

Roth Tosses Suburb Bussing Ball To State For 4 Months

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

It will be at least four months before Detroit suburban school districts know if they will be considered in a metropolitan school bussing plan to integrate Detroit schools.

U.S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth ruled Monday that the State Board of Education must submit a proposal within 120 days outlining a "magnet plan" that would incorporate suburban school districts to desegregate Detroit schools. Roth also gave the Detroit Board of Education 30 days to give its opinion on a magnet plan and 60 days to submit a proposal to integrate Detroit schools through arrangements made within the city's school boundaries. There is a 30-day period for any of the parties involved to file objections to any of the proposals.

ROTH DID NOT rule that suburban communities would be included in a new integration plan or that the suburban school districts be named as co-defendants in the suit brought by the NAACP against the Detroit schools and the state.

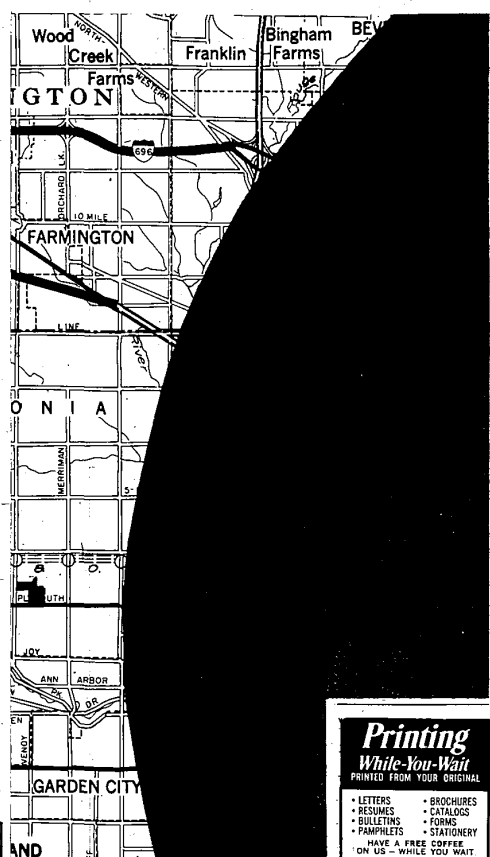

The move to make 85 suburban schools districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties co-defendants in the suit was made by the Citizens' Committee for Better Education, an organization of white property owners in Detroit.

At Monday's hearing, which had been called by Roth to set a timetable for court hearings on the Detroit school desegregation issue, the Citizens' Committee spokesman, Alexander Ritchie, submitted a "rudimentary" proposal that includes all or part of 61 suburban school districts with Detroit.

The plan proposes circular perimeter with a 12-mile radius centered in downtown Detroit. Almost all of Redford, most of Southfield and Garden City and a sliver of Livonia and Clarenceville are included in the metropolitan plan proposed by the Citizens' Committee.

Ritchie described his plan as one which was quickly drawn up and did not submit it for the court's formal consideration. "This (plan) does provide an accurate basis for establishing a metropolitan plan," Ritchie told the court.

Roth also said he was not in favor of bussing per se.

OBSERVERLAND SCHOOL DISTRICTS touched by the Detroit desegregation plan informally proposed by the Citizen's Committee for Better Education are Southfield, Redford, Clarenceville, Livonia and Garden City. The plan was only informally suggested to Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth and was not submitted for his formal consideration. Roth did rule that the State Board of Education outline a "metropolitan plan" -- that would include suburbs -- within 120 days.

A partial listing of the persons whose lives will be affected in 1972 by the 164 agencies of the United Foundation.

Affect you? Ridiculous! You never asked for help in your life. You make a good enough living. You're happily married. Your children are well adjusted. How can a UF agency even touch your life... let alone affect it?

Like this: The Methadone Clinic weans a drug addict from his $100-a-day habit. And he no longer burglarizes homes in your neighborhood.

Like this: A hospital patient is given an early release because a Visiting Nurse is committed to attend him at home. The hospital calls to tell you a bed is now available for your mother.

And like this: Directly or indirectly, what happens to the over 174 million human beings who will be counseled, treated, defended, entertained, adopted, restored, sheltered, educated, fed, reconciled, encouraged, soothed, and loved through the services of the 164

Torch Drive agencies will have an affect on your life and the lives of your family.

But, none of these agencies can operate without your money. Give Generously.

For a better life for yourself and the 4 million of us who live in Metropolitan Detroit.

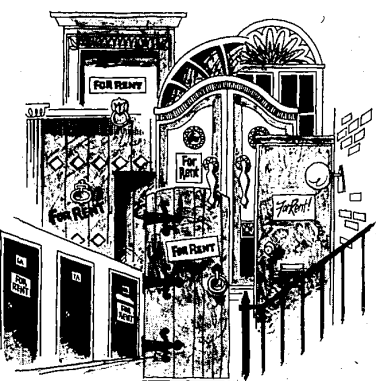

Let's help each other even more. We're all we've got
