GARDEN CLUB TO ARRANGE FALL TABLES.

At the November meeting of the Farmington Branch of the Woman's National Garden and Association, table decorations arranged by the different members will be on display, prizes being awarded to those which get the largest number of votes for suitability and attractiveness. Any material may be used in the decorations—flowers, fruits, anything suggesting the autumn season, or hangings for a party table will also be welcome. Anyone who intends to enter an exhibit please notify Mrs. Weaver, whose telephone number is 174, before the first of November.

Mrs. Clarence Johnston, treasurer of the Farmington Garden Club has had the honor to be selected regional vice president of district number one of the Michigan Federation of Garden Clubs.

SEWING UNIT HAS LARGE QUOTA OF GARMENTS

The newly formed Red Cross sewing unit in Farmington, the first meeting of which was held on Thursday in the High School Cafeteria, has been given a large quota of garments to be completed by December the twenty-second. It is hoped very much that Farmington women, either singly or in different groups, will respond generously to this worthy cause by giving a little of their spare time to it.

Sewing will be done at the cafeteria, which will be open each Thursday and Friday afternoon, while the different community groups may, if they wish, get their supplies there, and work in their own meeting rooms.

There will be only one set of books kept, to prevent confusion, but any group taking work out to be done at its meetings will have a chairman to check bundles in and out. This chairman will also keep the names and addresses, and hours of work of the different members; after a certain number of hours a worker is entitled to a Red Cross pin suit.

The three Farmington supervisors are Mrs. F. Leuz, Mrs. J. DeVriendt, and Mrs. H. Brough. A fourth volunteer is also needed. There will be no bandage making by the Farmington unit, only sewing. Following is a list of the garments which should be finished by December the twenty second:

100 women's skirts, 100 girl's dresses, 100 boy's shirts, 100 men's pajamas, 50 leynettes, and 10 Todler's Packs. Each of the latter containing 1 hood suit, 2 sleepers, 2 shirts, 2 rompers, suits, and 10 diapers. Soldiers kits will also be made up here, one of which the Red Cross is giving to each man in the army. Each one holds buttons, hooks and eyes, needles, white and black thread, safety pins, a pack of playing cards, pipe and tobacco pouch, writing paper and pencil, handkerchiefs, and wash cloth.

This, as mentioned before, is a large quota, and one by the operation of all needle women, whether good, bad, or indifferent, singly or in groups, will Farmington 'go over the top' on the appointed date.

Creamed Mushrooms Are Seasonal Dish

With the mushroom season at its height, try this recipe for mushrooms cooked in the double boiler which takes advantage of their own liquid, so much of which is lost in frying or boiling.

Creamed Mushrooms
Place in top of double boiler about 3/4 lb. of cleaned mushrooms. Add one cup of milk, and tablespoon of butter. Salt and pepper to taste. Cook until mushrooms are tender and juicy (about forty-five minutes), thicken with flour, and place on slices of toast.

Enrollment Closes In Red Cross Class

Membership of the Red Cross Home Nursing classes has now reached twenty five and enrollment is closed.

At last Tuesday's meeting, held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Nelson, the class studied the care of school-age children—how to recognize the various childhood diseases, treatment required for minor ailments, etc.

Items of Interest to WOMEN

New Cotton Hose Make Better Fit

Let's have less wrinkles. American women demanded when the silk situation indicated cotton hosiery would become more prevalent.

In Michigan farm homemakers work many hours on their feet. For everyday wear around the house, garden and farmyard, they are more interested in service-weight hose than in sheer leisure time stockings. Home economists at Michigan State College report that new styles in cotton hose designed by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture answer the new demand that the new cotton stockings be better shaped and fit better.

These new stockings are full-fashioned. That means stockings shaped to the curves of a woman's leg on one knitting machine, and connected by a delicate hand operation with another machine that shapes the foot correctly. A true seam up the back is one indication of a full-fashioned stocking.

The new hose have numerous other construction features to appeal to practical women—foot reinforcements for soles, heels and toes, and two-way stretch tops.

They have been made in beige and tan, black, white, tweed-like blends and many popular new colors in plain knit, ribbed and mesh weaves and in full length and knee-length campus socks. All these everyday hose are finding their places in the wardrobe of a farm woman. They are just right to wear with house dresses, slacks or the latest farm work clothes. Also available are designs in sheer and lacy weaves of cotton, to put on with lighter-weight shoes.

HARDY VINES SHOULD BE PLANTED NOW

Hardy vines may be planted now, for more rapid results next year. The vine is a jack-of-all-trades in the garden, useful in many ways, but particularly as a screen for unsightly objects, or a cover-up for bare patches of ground. If there is a spot in your garden too shady, or otherwise unsuited for flowers, cover it with rapid-spreading periwinkle, ground ivy, moneywort, or myrtle.

For covering a bare wall or fence use the popular Virginia creeper or Japan ampelopsis, both with unusually lovely autumn foliage, or some other popular vine—variegated ivy, garden clematis, or the scarlet flowered trumpet creeper. The latter trained over a dead trunk, can turn it into a garden arbor, rather than liability. A vine covered fence also makes a charming background for a colorful flower border.

For arbors, strong woody vines are needed. Grapes are excellent for this purpose, as well as honey suckle, dutchman's pipe, and akela. Wistaria, with its beautifully colored blossoms, is also suitable for an arbor, yet for some reason is little used in this part of the country.

Four Johnsons Serving In Nebraska's Capitol

LINCOLN, NEB.—If you ask for "Mr. Johnson" at the Nebraska statehouse, you might get the state auditor, attorney general, state treasurer, or even the lieutenant governor.

Ray C. Johnson is the auditor, Walter R. Johnson the attorney general, L. B. Johnson the new state treasurer and William E. Johnson the lieutenant governor. They are not related.

British Styles to Carry War Pictorially to U. S.

LONDON.—British designers are planning to carry the war—pictorially—into the United States on women's dresses.

Instead of the traditional flowers, the latest batch of prints by British designers for export to the United States portrays, for instance, a bayonet-brandishing Home Guard attacking a Nazi parachutist.

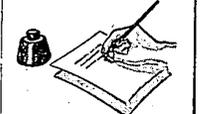

Other motifs include Gen. Charles de Gaulle's proclamation to the Free French, with the general's signature; Prime Minister Winston Churchill's "Never was so much owed by so many to so few" tribute to the Royal Air force; British army, navy and Royal Air force emblems; the shields and scrolls of Free Norwegian, Polish and Czech pilots fighting the Battle of Britain.

One of the most elaborate designs illustrates rationing—hens, eggs, beef, oranges, lemons, pigs, chocolate and lumps of sugar against a sea-green background representing the Battle of the Atlantic.
