GIRL SCOUT NEWS

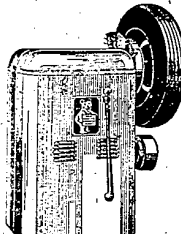

A Halloween party was the order of the day for the girls of Troop 7. The party was held at the home of Mrs. John Hunt, assistant leader, and the girls had a grand time playing games. Of course, there were refreshments.
The girls of Troop 8 have been modeling with clay for the past couple of weeks. Also at the last meeting the troop read a story, the girls taking turns reading.
The Brownies of Troop 9 are learning their Girl Scout pledge and laws in preparation for the flag ceremony. In observance of Navy Day, the girls held a flag ceremony at their meeting this week. The girls registered a perfect attendance at the meeting, and established a 100 per cent financial status by paying all dues. The troop participated in the Church of the Holy Spirit, inaugurating National Girl Scout Week, by attending in a group the 8:30 morning services and going to communion at the church of Our Lady of Sorrows.
Posters for the Girl Scout Bake Sale, being held Saturday at the Securities Finance office, are the proud handwork of the Brownies of Troop No. 4. The posters are on display in the downtown stores, and are a credit to the troop.
Variety being the spice of life, the girls of Troop 1, who have been hard at work making sweaters and layettes for the Red Cross, took time out for a Halloween party this week at the home of Mrs. H. R. Locker, troop leader. A chop suey dinner preceded the Halloween festivities. The troop's Red Cross work is progressing very satisfactorily. Nine girls are knitting children's sweaters and nine are working on the layettes.
The Girl Scouts of Farmington presented an impressive appearance when they attended church services in full uniform last Sunday, commemorating the opening day of Girl Scout week, which was observed throughout the nation from October 26 to November 1. The services were held at the Salem Evangelical and Our Lady of Sorrows churches.
A. N. A. syndicate, as the only independent newspaper correspondent in Russia.
With his wife, Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer, Erskine Caldwell crossed the Pacific, traveled to Chungking and then journeyed in a special plane from the Chinese capital to Moscow on a trip around the world. On the day the Nazi troops crossed the Soviet border the Caldwells were on a short holiday at a Black Sea resort some 1,300 miles from Moscow. They immediately returned and made arrangements for their daily broadcasts to the United States.
Caldwell's novel "Tobacco Road," which Jack Kirkham made into a play and which broke all records for longest run performance, was one of a number of his chronicles about shocking conditions among the country's "poor whites." The noted novelist has also produced with Margaret Bourke-White some of the finest documentary books of our times. "Say, Is This the U.S.A.?", published last spring, contains material gathered in a recent trip through the country. Traveling through the heart of the deep South, this brilliant writer has previously produced a gripping document, "You Have Seen Their Faces." Their first collaboration was in 1938 when they traveled through Central Europe to document the dramatic story of Czechoslovakia which they told in their book, "North of the Danube."

County Health Unit Work Carried On By Free Clinics

This is the fourth in a series of articles pertaining to the work of the Oakland County Health Department. The article this week is a continuation of last week's, and deals with the subject of venereal disease, prevention, and regulation, under the direction of the County Health Department.
Patients living in the City of Pontiac as well as those living in the County are treated in the County Venereal Disease Clinics.
There is a free distribution of approved preparations for treatment of syphilis and gonorrhea (arsenic, heavy metals and sulfonamides) by the Michigan Department of Health through the County Health Department to private physicians as well as to the clinics. These preparations are available for all patients. The only requirement for obtaining them is that the case must be reported and a request signed by the physician. Drugs were provided for 587 patients.
Regional Tabulating Unit.
In March 1940, Oakland County venereal disease clinics in Pontiac and Royal Oak affiliated with the Regional Tabulating Unit and were assigned numbers by the state venereal disease statistician. Number 230 for the Pontiac clinic and 232 for the Royal Oak clinic appears on all abstracts, progress cards, correction sheets and transfer cards for these clinics. Each patient is also assigned a number.
An abstract opens the patient's treatment account with the Regional Tabulating Unit and begins the process of keeping the patient's record by machine methods of tabulation. In the case of new patients not previously treated at these clinics, it merely opens a treatment account with the Regional Tabulating Unit. In the case of old patients, which have been previously treated in these clinics, the abstract summarizes all the treatment that the patient has received since being admitted to the clinic. In the case of patients who are newly admitted to Oakland County clinics, but who have been treated elsewhere, it summarizes the treatment received up to the time they are admitted to our clinics.
Every treatment given is recorded on an individual progress card and sent to Lansing for tabulation. Information is summarized by tabulating machines and a complete record in code form is returned monthly to the Health Department. This report shows the treatment each patient has received, patients who have lapsed treatment and all information necessary to aid the clinician in providing adequate treatment.
Venereal Disease Control Bureau.
As National emphasis on venereal disease education and control increased, the need for coordination of the efforts of the health department and the private physicians became increasingly evident.
The primary objective of the bureau is to bring syphilis patients under treatment with their private physician or clinic and to keep them under treatment until adequate treatment has been received. This can be accomplished by following up delinquent patients and their contacts and returning them to the physician or clinic.
