

Probation Plan

THE JUDGE ALSO asserted that "not one" of several threats from police headquarters had ever been traced to an offender despite full investigation.

So successful has the city program been, the judge said, that three offenders later expressed interest in becoming policemen and two actually joined the Detroit police department.

"They learned the police were pretty good guys, after all," Judge Hand said.

ANOTHER ASPECT of the adult term of adjournment program is its constructiveness, according to former District Judge Keith J. Leenhouts, who inaugurated the program and now serves as president of Volunteers in Probation, Inc.

"Jail is a waste of time," Leenhouts said. "Sitting in a cell helps no one. By doing needed work, the defendant feels useful and worthwhile. Also, is not society really saying: 'We need your talents, your energy, and your time?' Jail terms do not say this."

Another factor which Leenhouts found significant was the possibility of reducing crime. He found between 80 and 90 per cent of the felonies in Royal Oak were committed by persons previously found guilty of a misdemeanor or a juvenile offense.

"If we can deal successfully with these young offenders, we may be able to prevent many felonies," Leenhouts said. "At the very least, we know punishment blindly and quickly administered does not work. Should we not try something that can work?"

Art Auction Raising Money For New Farmington Library

FARMINGTON An art auction by Park West Galleries of Southfield will be held Sunday, Oct. 17, to raise funds for the Farmington District Library.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Farmington, the auction will be held in the ballroom of Botsford Inn beginning with an hour's exhibit at 7 p.m.

ALL MONIES from ticket sales and a percentage from the art pieces sold will go to furnish the "quiet room" in the new library now under construction on 12 Mile just east of Farmington Rd.

Conducting the auction for the Farmington Rotarians will be Albert Scaglione, director of the Park West Galleries which specializes in art auctions as fund-raising activities for community groups.

"We've been working for a number of weeks to prepare for the auction," says Joe Nicita, Rotary president. "We'll have a number of pieces of fine art which will go to the highest bidder. Almost every medium will be represented, such as oils, water colors, gouaches, lithographs, etchings, engravings and posters."

The Rev. Hugh Stewart, Rotary project chairman, says there is no obligation to buy, and persons may feel comfortable in attending the auction without bidding.

"The exhibit and auction will be very interesting, enjoyable and a bit educational. We want residents to have a good time in addition to raising funds for the library," says Stewart. "Of course, anyone in the market for art for the home or business should come ready to bid because the prices will be reasonable."

TO PROTECT bidders, Stewart adds, the auctioneer will inform participants when the bidding has reached the retail value so bidders will not go above retail except by choice.

The quiet room is to be a community room for use by all ages. It will be a place to read in quiet and will include community display cases.

The Farmington Rotarians agreed to furnish the room when it became apparent that tax funds would not be sufficient to meet all needs of the new library if it is to open on schedule, Nicita explains.

Some 200 invitations to the auction have been mailed, and tickets at $1.50 per person are being sold by Rotary members. Tickets will be sold at the door.

ONE OF Scaglione's most prominent art auctions was held to benefit the Encounter drug rehabilitation program in New York City. Sponsoring the auction were New York

Mayor John Lindsay and Ed McMahon of the "Tonight Show."

Scaglione says: "Art auctions are one of the best ways of getting art to the people and widening the appreciation of good art."

"Beginners can make some very good buys at an auction. And they soon realize that you don't have to own a Picasso to call yourself an art lover."

Scaglione believes that along with the chance to buy good art at reasonable prices, persons should enjoy themselves at an auction.

"I try to make my auctions entertaining. I hope everyone goes home knowing a little more about art as well. And, of course, they all have the satisfaction of taking part in a worthy cause — helping the Farmington Library District."

Botsford Inn, meeting place for the Rotarians at noon each Tuesday, is located on the north side of Grand River just east of Middle Belt.

"FOLLOW-THROUGH—"
says Lee Trevino—
"IS WHAT MAKES A BOY A GOOD NEWSPAPERBOY"

Lee Trevino thinks like a golfer. And why not? This year he made history by winning three national titles (U. S., Canadian, and British) within a span of three weeks. So when asked about Newspaperboy Day, he had this comment on what makes a newspaperboy tick:

"He follows through. He takes care of his customers. Never mind the season or the weather, your newspaperboy knows you count on him—so he's always there with your paper. Follow-through is what wins golf tournaments—and it's also what wins respect for these young men that serve us so well. I take off my cap to them."

Service, dependability, responsibility—these are all attributes of the

The Okinawa Chamber of Commerce championship (as a Marine in '59) wasn't Lee's biggest title, but it was his first. Since then, you count 'em: Golf Rookie of the Year, 1967; U. S. Open (twice); British, Canadian, Hawaiian, Texas (this home state) twice; and many others, including the 1969 World Cup. Sportsman, citizen, and friend of the Newspaperboy.

Service, dependability, responsibility—these are all attributes of the successful newspaperboy. And you can add another word too: "thriftiness." Like their parents and many other Americans, thousands of newspaperboys save part of their earnings in U. S. Savings Bonds, in preparation for college or other financial needs of the future.

Buying Bonds is just another example of their all-round good citizenship. Another reason for the nation to be proud of its newspaper carriers. Like Lee Trevino's cap, Uncle Sam's hat is off to these young businessmen on the occasion of their annual day in the spotlight—Newspaperboy Day 1971.

Take stock in America.
