NEW OFFICERS OF WHITE SHRINE ARE INSTALLED

Installation of the new officers of Trinity Shrine No. 44, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, headed by Mrs. Zona Mae Harris of Northville, Worthy High Priestess, took place before an audience of about 150 people in the Masonic Hall last Thursday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated with a lovely basket of white flowers in the east, and potted palms. The installing officer was Mrs. Julia Rogge, Past Worthy High Priestess of Highland Park, assisted by Mrs. Nesta Garlick of Belleville, Worthy Herald; Mrs. Gertrude Webster, chaplain; Mrs. Madeline Malone, scribe; Mrs. Elsie Hueber, of Redford, organist; and Mrs. Jessie McEneaney of Strathmore, soloist. The retiring Worthy High Priestess, Mrs. Mae West, and her Watchman of Shepherds, Mr. Isaac Bond, opened the meeting and welcomed guests from Detroit, Port Huron, Northville, and Redford. The American flag was presented by Mrs. Edith Tolman of Farmington. Following is a complete list of the new officers:

The Flag Bearers are Mrs. Edith Tolman, American Flag; Mrs. Rose Smith, Christian Flag; and Mrs. Mae West, Canadian Flag.

At the close of the installation Mrs. Zona Mae Harris, the new Worthy High Priestess, gave a very pleasing address and introduced her family. She was presented with a gavel from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seebald of Detroit, and a beautiful basket of flowers from her family, and other gifts.

The retiring Worthy High Priestess, Mrs. Mae West, was presented with a beautiful ring as a Past Officer's jewel from Trinity Shrine by Mrs. Gertrude Webster, who had installed her in various stations she had held. Mrs. West also received many lovely gifts, including a waffle iron from her officers. Mrs. Isaac Bond, retiring Watchman of Shepherds, was presented with a jewel by Mr. Oliver Mosler.

A short program by the Clark children followed the presentations, and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

THE VICTORY GARDEN

(Sixth in a series of articles prepared by Mrs. Earl Whitman, conservation chairman of the Farmington branch of the Women's National Farm & Garden Association.)
Though it was announced last week that today's article would suggest flower suitable for planting in this locality, we've found that there are far too many to list. Seed catalogs are full of attractive varieties, nearly all of which grow nicely here, and the most superficial reading will give you many more suggestions than we possibly could in one short article. However, perhaps a few ideas as to planting and landscaping the garden will be useful.

Careful planning of just what flowers you're going to have in your garden will pay you dividends when the growing season rolls around. Don't plant the same types you had last year—there are so many new varieties developed every year that you can always find something new to put in. This year for instance, there is a new oriental poppy, a beautiful shell pink with black center, or pure white with black center. It's just as

At the top is pictured a delicious banana "Victory Cake" which saves two-thirds of the sugar a housewife would ordinarily use in making such a fine party cake. easy to grow as the standard poppy yet more interesting because it's a little different. By studying the seed catalogs for new varieties, you can plan a beautiful, unusual garden, no harder to plant and look after than an ordinary one.

The color combinations of your flower beds make a great difference in the appearance of your garden. Deep blue delphinium and golden coreopsis, the new all-yellow gladioli and Heliotrope, countless other combinations of popular flowers, will make each variety seem more colorful and attractive by contrast. So don't plant all one kind together, or mix the flowers better—study what shades go well together, and plant them accordingly.

An arch or arbor in the garden can be made into one of its loveliest features. It should be so attractive to the eye that it is a full view of its mantel of flowering vine can be seen from the window; Trumpet vine, woodbine, or climbing roses are perfect for this type of planting. Be sure to have the archway lead somewhere. Nothing looks more sinister than one just set in the middle of the yard. Even if it's only to the bird bath, plan the arbor path to go to some definite spot. Also, foil those all-too-common guests who always go around, instead of through the archway, by planting bushes or flowers at either side, so that the walker has no choice.

Next week's subject will be plant diseases and their control.

DOROTHY'S DIARY

MONDAY: Peer under leaf mold covering bulbs in garden, and am delighted to find several green shoots from crocus, grape hyacinth, and snow drops in the circle of bare earth under the big maple tree. In a few weeks, it will be filled with flowers, ample reward for the laborious planting work I did last fall.

TUESDAY: Inspired by feeling of spring in the air, change position of every piece of furniture in the living room, except for the piano. Feel this will provide welcome change of view for George and myself, after looking at same arrangement of furniture ever since we moved into the house. Discover also that faults and good points of different pieces are more noticeable when I see them in an unaccustomed spot.

George, on arrival home, is far from pleased, especially at finding his favorite armchair moved from fireplace. Asks me why I can't leave well enough alone.

WEDNESDAY: By evening, George's armchair, desk, and sofa have been returned to original locations, and room looks exactly same as before. All but one small chair I managed to keep moved, and must try to recover, as shabbiness of upholstery very plain in new spot.

THURSDAY: Since efforts to renovate living room were a failure, turn to last year's white summer evening dress. Try suggestion found in fashion magazine, and brighten it with bolero in flowered print and matching ruffle around skirt.

FRIDAY: Read long article on approaching sugar rationing, and develop sudden craving for some candy. Spend evening making and eating George's favorite pralines.
