Mothers Hold Guidance Meeting

The mothers of girls and boys in guidance classes met informally Thursday, April 30, to discuss problems common to them all.

This meeting endeavored to combine the mothers, the advisers, and the students' forms a happy medium. When guidance directors are familiar with out-of-school and home points of view, they find it easier to help children with their problems and vice versa. An exchange of ideas among parents should be a good thing. The mothers' opinions appear to have had in guidance discussion groups.

Tea was served by the Home-making class under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Chapman. Miss Dorothy Allison, Miss Marian Damon and Miss Isabel Steele, the guidance teachers, acted as hostesses.

The program was planned and directed by Mrs. Henry Colebank, chairman of the P.T.A. Parents' Discussion Committee. E. Gunning.

Elementary Notes

In art the sixth graders are drawing birds (free hand) and painting them.

In science they are studying the universe, the solar system, and the planets. They are finding out many interesting facts that they didn't know.

The fifth graders are happy to welcome back Frank Coon, who has returned after a long illness.

Archery Club Members Are Photographed

On Wednesday, April 22, a few members of the Archery Club had their pictures taken. The three members that were photographed were: Betty Aschenbrenner, Audrey Lathrup, and Burke Martin. The club is using a competitive system the scores will be tabulated, and the one showing the best advancement will receive a reward. The type of prize to be given remains a secret.

Music Program Varied For Spring

The Music department has been teaming with activity the past few days.

Mr. Oliver took advantage of the beautiful weather last week and put the band through marching band practices. After practices get under way, Mr. Oliver expects to have about thirty students trained for marching.

Because of Mr. Ayres' absence, Miss Bacon has been directing the first and second bands during the last few weeks. The bands will be under her direction until Mr. Ayres returns.

F.H.S. Thinclads Lose to Birmingham

Farmington High School's track squad lost its first meet of the year last week to a strong Birmingham squad by the score of 61 to 38.

Although the score seems lopsided, Coach Paul Shoemaker was well pleased with the showing of his team. Coach Shoemaker said that Birmingham goes in a big way for track and that the local lads showed up well against such a large squad.

Grades Schedule Softball Game

The grade school's softball team had its first game scheduled for Friday, May 1. The game will be with Bond School. Last year the team won its first game and lost the next five, but coach John Chapman sees a better season ahead this year. For Friday's game the probable lineup will be as follows: Fred, catcher; B. Was, pitcher; E. Tyler, first base; B. Neff, right shortstop; D. Cairns, second base; D. Carley, left short; B. Miller, third base; R. Laird, left field; B. Cooroy, center field; and either H. Aldrich or B. Newlin, right field.

Galilean Shepherd Will Speak At Banquet At St. Paul's Church

As a part of the Mother and Daughter banquet of the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church on Saturday night, May 9, at eight o'clock, Stephen A. Haboush, native Galilean shepherd, will speak on his "shepherd life in ancient Galilee, giving an interpretation of the 23rd Psalm in native Galilean costume.

Buy in Farmington!

Mr. Haboush was born on the hills about the Sea of Galilee, and his youth recalled his father's flock of sheep, just as every Galilean boy has done since the days when the Master walked among men. He came to North America and worked his way through a North American university. Recently returned to the land of his birth, and there personally took a marvelous motion picture of the scenes and people of Galilee in natural color. He returned to North America with his message. He has written for magazines and newspapers and spoken before great audiences in many of the famous universities, churches and schools in Canada and the United States.

Camera "Bugs" Study Color Films

The Photography Club met and had an interesting lecture on Kodachrome film Wednesday. The lecture was supplemented by a series of colored slides illustrating the use and make-up of the film.

for Industry

Last February 9th, the nation advanced its clocks and watches one full hour "for the duration." People ask us—"What has the adoption of War Time meant in actual saving of electric power?"

The huge turbo-generator you see above produces seventy-five thousand kilowatts of electricity—enough to take care of all the electric service requirements for a quarter of a million average families. A single one of these machines, complete, costs one-and-a-half million dollars, not counting transmission or distribution equipment to handle the current it produces. These great generators are put "on the line" as needed to meet peak-load requirements for electric power. Prior to February 9th, in the late afternoon, the demand for electricity from our power plants began to rise rapidly as light was turned on, and electric ranges started cooking the evening meal. This simultaneous demand for power—from homes, stores, and factories—resulted in a high "peak" load, because lighting and cooking came together.

Since February 9th—after the nation changed to War Time—lights are turned on later. The home lighting load has been separated from the commercial lighting and cooking load, and fewer machines like the one above are needed to meet the evening "peak." It is estimated that our evening 30-minute peak has been reduced 50,000 to 75,000 kilowatts by the change to War Time. This releases valuable generating capacity needed by the industry for the manufacture of war materials. Incidentally, The Detroit Edison Company's total generating capacity is now 5 1/2 times greater than at the close of World War I. The Detroit Edison Company.
