Two Feet From Heaven—Percival Wren. A very interesting story by the writer of "Beau Geste," revealing the conflict between good by the writer of "lead ucest," vealing the conflict between good and evil in the soul of man. There separate stories merge into one superb story, by the best of story-telliers, Percival Wren. It concerns Richard Neystoke, an English Vicar, whose past ariegs to taunt him in the midst of the through just precing the outbreak of the present war; the story of the woman who helped him escape the consequences of the act which had haunted him all through the years of his respectable parried life and the story of the painter who, at the woman's trial, receives the inspiration for his presents pleature.

woman's trial, receives the inspiration for his greatest picture.
This dramatic story unfolds in flashbacks to the past and in Neystoke's confessions to the Matron of a nursing home, where he goess when the burden of his conscience becomes unbearable, and with whom he falls in love. Fate eventually arranges a meeting with the woman, who years before, had help-ted him—and the story has its complete unfolding.

The Bright idea Book—Madeline Gray and Robert C. Urban.

One of the most unusual books that has yet been printed. An ideal book for any child between the ages of 10 and 14 years. It is a gift that would delight the heart of any the property of that would delight the heart of any child. It is planned entertainment for children who "don't know what to do." It gives new ideas and ideas on how to do old things different. All the ideas have been tested, so as not to prove disappointing to its readers.

There are stx parts to the book, covering Hobbles, Ways to make money, Magic, Sports, Training, Pets and Puziles. These are subjects most interesting to children of this age who are not to be rest.

The magic and tricks have all been tried and tested and are simple enough to do and yet interesting enough to hold their attention.

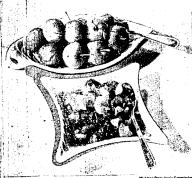

Mr. Urban's pen and this drawings add a great deal to the book and add the younger children in grasping the directions. Makes not only an appreciable Christmas or Birthday gift, but would help beas many hours for the shut-in. Capital City—Carl Sandoz.

The writer of this book has as interesting a background as could be possible and her sharp wit and tongue add much to the reading with this book. The story is laid in the city of Franklin in the state of Kanewa and opens with the third generation of pioneers, who have become cautious and indulgent of the wealth it has garnered on the

THE GARDEN PATH

There arear many plants more beautiful and delicate than the beautiful and delicate than the plant in great a derived and there is a certain pride in having a nice pot of them decorating your home. Some persons, who have very good incident with house plants in general, never seem to be able to grow these violets. But if we would remember that it is a tropical plant and treat it as such, we might be more successful.
