WPB Order Affects Cooking

Available Facilities
Must Be Utilized

Families or persons planning to change their residence were urged Saturday by the War Production Board to investigate thoroughly the utilities available for cooking in prospective living quarters. This precautionary advice was given by James E. Wilson, WPB deputy regional director in charge of the priorities division, in explaining a WPB order which prohibits connection of an electric range where complete gas facilities are available and the connection of a gas range where complete electric facilities are fully installed.

He added, however, that in cases where neither complete gas nor electric facilities are available on the premises, and the premises are not equipped with ranges of any kind, service extensions may be made for either gas or electric connections.

Who knows?—How much sooner will it help win Victory how many lives will be spared, because this Company and other utilities were on the job and ready with gas for industrial war production?

Who knows?—War activities are a military secret, but this you do know: There is a flood of material pouring to the front—material that will help tell the story of the terrific drive for Victory.

And this you may know, too: Consumers Power Company has met and supplied every local industrial gas need for turning out the war stuff to put in the hands of our boys (and for backing up jobs of workers in industry). Its a 24-hour job—7 days a week. Our gas and mains are part of the country's war production forces.

We've kept our minds on our work. We've gone ahead building and strengthening facilities. So today, with America facing a crisis, when "size" of a business may be your salvation, we're able to do our part—big enough to get in there and pitch, for home and country, and our boys. Isn't that worth plenty to you right now?
