

"TRAILER VAGABOND"

By WARREN BAYLEY

LINCOLN CITY, IND. Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial. In the year 1816 a flatboat floated down the broad Ohio river and anchored on the Indiana shore at a place called Thompson's Ferry. Aboard this raft was one of this man, who was the father of a new nation.

After securing his raft at this landing, his father North had been killed by an Indian and whose son was destined to be assassinated by a civilized savage. Sixteen miles from the banks of broad Ohio, near the town of Genoa, Indiana, he found what he sought. On a small knoll in the wilderness he staked out a distance from where the grave site for a cabin. Two days later he journeyed back to the home of Abraham Lincoln in Kentucky were ended.

When Thomas Lincoln and his family arrived at the site of their new home it marked the beginning of the future President. For 15 years the wooded hills of southern Indiana were to play their part in moulding his stature and character. As these years were from age 6 to 21 they were all important. It was here that he grew to a man 5 feet 4 inches in height, strongest in the countryside. It was here that he had his early schooling, less than 12 months years after they arrived. It is here that the State of Indiana is now building the Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial in honor of that mother whom Lincoln loved so well and paid due homage when he spoke the immortal words "God bless my mother. All I am or hope to be I owe to her." It has been 124 years since Lincoln's mother passed away, yet only now is a Memorial being undertaken in view of what other places have done to honor the great Emancipator. But be man, a plowman like his father. Lincoln, father of Abraham Lincoln, had again heard the call of the West and was moving his family from Kentucky.

War is on the Wires, Mr. Jones!

ALL TIME is precious these war days—and especially telephone time. Yet hundreds of hours are wasted daily by people who place a Long Distance call, then leave the telephone and are not there to take the call when the connection is made. Long Distance lines now are crowded with military and war production calls. Normally we would build enough additional lines and equipment to take care of all demands. But we can't do that today because the necessary materials are more urgently needed for fighting. To make the most efficient use of what we have—to keep the wires clear for the fast transmission of war calls—those are responsibilities shared by every telephone user. For war calls must go through!

WAR RELIEF COMMITTEE ISSUES REPORT

The Christian Science War Relief Committee of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, which was established in September, 1940, has recently released its second annual report. This shows that it now has more than 1500 branch units active in the United States of America, besides many more in Great Britain, Canada, Australia and the Union of South Africa.

The committee has assembled since Pearl Harbor over 65,000 pounds of durable waterproof, mending, proof, wooden cases, at conventional locations from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, ready for instant use should emergencies arise because of local enemy action. More than 32,000 garments have been distributed, through military distribution centres, to men in the United States forces. A large British transport vessel which had arrived from tropical waters and received 100 overcoats for officers. Folding coats have been given to overcrowded seamen's clubs. Civilians arriving in the United States suffering because of war conditions or action have been provided with clothing and other forms of relief. Among them are refugees from the East, who landed in California, and merchant seamen rescued from shipwrecks and stranded on the Atlantic coast. This work is carried on by the committee without regard to creed or race.

One of the most impressive branches of the work from war, has been the distribution of clothing and comforts to bombarded people in Great Britain and to refugees from Iceland, Norway, Austria, Poland, Belgium and other European countries. More than 100,000 articles of clothing and comforts have been sent from branches of the committee in England. One example is the preparation, within six weeks, of 1250 knitted garments for the Russian front. Overseas war-torn areas have seen the commendation and cooperation of local authorities by their prompt arrival on the scene of trouble, in cities heavily bombed, such as Plymouth, Coventry, Bristol, and Southampton, where they have got down to work and clothing, ready to go to work, even before the "All Clear" sounded. The wide range of the distribution is indicated in the annual report from the United Kingdom. One worker reports that an English "suitable bomber" was fitted out with suitable professional clothing by the almoner. A Scottish centre states that Commandos who at one time raided the Norwegian islands were equipped on the expedition with comforts from Boston, and that the centre provided clothing for the refugees whom the Commandos brought back.

Throughout the entire Christian Science movement workers are making and collecting clothing of all kinds and sending it to the depots, where it is carefully inspected, sorted and packed in waterproof cases for shipment. One of the most recent of the Committee's activities has been the sending of weekly food packages to British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy. This can be done according to the Geneva Convention. Only an occasional package has gone astray. Correspondence has been started with many of the prisoners and with their families in England. Some packages have been sent to civilians in Occupied France. It has not been possible to reach prisoners in two war camps.

Figures presented for the two-year period ending the first of October, this year, include over 1,600,000 pounds of clothing and bedding sent to the British Isles, more than 8,700 pounds to Russia, and more than 10,500 pounds to Finland, previous to that country's alliance with the Axis. The yearly shipment to England from the Boston depot alone was valued between 4,000 and 5,000 crates, each containing about 200 garments. The loss in snipping has been negligible. During the first year of the committee's operation at least 30,000 people in Great Britain received clothing, food or other comforts, and about 240 were assisted financially, in addition to shipments from the four depots in the States—at Boston, New York, Los Angeles, and Portland, Oregon—crates are sent north from Christian Science workers in Canada, Australia, and South Africa. In Great Britain alone 300 almshouses have been at work distributing relief.

The total value of material in clothing distributed is estimated at $1,633,300. In addition to this money gifts have been sent to China and other needy countries, and three motorized canteens have been sent to England; they are located in London, Sheffield and Rochester. The Committee is ready to aid in relieving human suffering caused by war wherever it can; and it co-operates with many other officially recognized relief agencies when such action means readily contributing whatever of its supplies are available.

RED CROSS NOTES

War-time food rationing creates many changes in family menus. Housewives are confronted with the problems of altering meal preparation methods and still keeping careful watch on nutrition. Protecting the family physical fitness is of first importance during the present emergency, and is given special emphasis in the Nutrition course offered by the Oakland County chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Karl D. Bailey, chapter nutrition chairman, states that the standard 20 hour course gives basic training in the selection and use of proper foods for health. Blair Brostad, director of first aid service at the American Red Cross midwestern office at St. Louis has complimented the local chapter on the sizeable increase in the number of persons trained in first aid throughout Oakland County. Mr. Brostad recently visited the chapter office and met with the county first aid committee at the Birmingham community house. It was announced by Dr. E. B. Cudney, chapter first aid chairman. Extensive plans were outlined for furthering this program.
