Paging Miss Post
Private Charles J. Brown of the 57th Bn., Camp Berkeley, Texas has at last solved the problem of tagging at USO and camp dances. Brown's new rule of etiquette prescribes that the well-mannered soldier will not cut in on a dance until the couple has danced 25 steps. He may, if he so desires, stalk his victim, counting in his ear: "10, 11, 12, 13, 14," provided he "counts cadence" aloud in rhythm with the dance.

Call by Land

It is a good thing to have four or five tanks, built by as many local mechanics, to replace the average oil tank in the fact that once delivered 65 per cent of the Eastern oil supply. By diverting tank cars from other areas, the overland movement of oil to the East has been stepped up terrifically. But still the East coast gets only about one barrel of oil for each two barrels it once received by sea. That's the reason for fuel oil rationing.

"What on earth has a battleship got to do with my cooking?"

JACK: Plenty, Mom... plenty! They tell me down at the Navy yard almost everything that goes into making those babies is cooked with Gas.

MOTHER: Cooked? What do you mean cooked...?

JACK: Heat-treated... to give the metal proper toughness. For instance, Gas makes a armor plate so it will shake off big shells and not shatter under gunfire. And the steel for tanks, guns, planes and bombs... they're all cooked with Gas!

MOTHER: But why Gas?

JACK: Why Gas! You ought to know... because it saves time and money making a battleship—just as it saves you time and money cooking a meal!

MOTHER: So that's why they say we may be asked to conserve Gas for home use this winter. That's it, Mch... Gas is mighty important stuff, and they need lots of it to win the war!

MOTHER: Well, if I can help... I'll be glad to do my bit.

JACK: Now you're cookin' with Gas... Mom!

* 85,000,000 Americans depend on Gas to save time, money and food in cooking... to preserve food safely in silent Gas refrigerators... to heat water and homes. That's why they've made the Gas Company community headquarters for cooking and outdoor information! If you want the latest advice on these all-important subjects... consult your Gas Company.
