Job Records Of High School Students
To help high school students find their proper place in the army (or in war industry), each one will soon be asked to make a card record of his school and job history. These "educational experience summary record" cards will contain such information as a student's academic standing and achievement, vocational and pre-induction preparation, wage earning experience, aptitudes, significant hobbies and Social Security number.

Casualty Totals
Announced casualties of the United States armed forces from the outbreak of the war to date (whose next of kin have been notified) total 72,333. This total, arrived at by combining war and navy reports, includes: dead, 12,123; wounded, 15,049; missing, 45,161.

40,485; prisoners of war, 10,628. Protect Child Worker's Health
Estimating that more than 3,000,000 boys and girls between 14 and 18 will hold full or part-time jobs this summer, Katherine S. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor, has issued a warning that the health of young workers must be protected. She said thousands of boys and girls under 18 are being permitted to work excessive hours, often late at night, to the detriment of their school work.

Replacements For Tractor Tires
Replacement tires can be obtained for farm tractors when there are no recapping facilities available, the OPA has announced. Formerly, no replacements could be had for tires which were in recappable condition.

"Lay Away" Of Shoes
Shoe dealers cannot hold or lay away shoes for customers beyond the end of the period in which a current war ration shoe stamp is valid unless they receive the shoe ration stamps in advance, the OPA has announced. Another amendment provides that house slippers and moccasins designed for indoor use only are not rationed.

Group Riding Increases
Group riding has made the greatest gains in rural industrial areas, state surveys show. In these sections, the average number of persons per car increased from 1.77 a year ago to 3.17 now. The average number of persons per car throughout the country has increased from 2 prior to July 1, 1942, to 2.66.

Ceilings On Washing Machines
Maximum prices for used washing machines sold by dealers, auctioneers and individuals have been established by OPA. Rates for rental of used washers limit prices to $4.50 for the first month and $3.50 monthly thereafter, regardless of the type of machine rented. New Ceilings On Beef and Lamb Retail ceiling prices for beef and lamb will be reduced one to three cents a pound below the ceilings originally scheduled to take effect April 15. The new prices become effective May 17 and will be uniform throughout the country for stores of the same type.

"Our Armed Forces"

An orientation book for high school students planning to enter one of the armed services has been published by the U.S. Office of Education in cooperation with the U.S. Infantry Association. The book, "Our Armed Forces," gives the history background, and traditions of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and Marine Corps, and answers many questions. It may be ordered from the Infantry Journal, 1115-17th Street, Northwest, Washington, D.C. The price is 35 cents per copy; or, to students, teachers and schools, 25 cents per copy in quantities of four or more.

Fuel Oil Ration

Householders in the 33 fuel oil rationed states and the District of Columbia will receive their next season's ration coupons for heating oil through the mails. Approximately one-third of next season's coupons may be used beginning July 1 so tanks may be filled during the summer season. Rations for smaller homes may be increased.

"TRAILER VAGABOND"

BUENA PARK, CALIF. KNOTT'S BERRY PLACE

Three times in the last four days I have heard this place described as "the better mousetrap," and if having 100,000 cars stop at a farmhouse and the car occupants part with over half a million dollars in one year goes to make a better mousetrap, then this is it. Probably no other farmer in all the world can boast such popularity. Real showmanship and the better berry blazed a trail to riches.

Up and down the highways of Southern California are roadside stands, by the thousands, selling the produce of the countryside. Some are products of the depression, but old timers will tell you that others have dotted the roadside since the day when oranges became popular in the land of sunshine. For the most part they are operated by the owners of small tracts near the highway. Signs in all directions tell the story of "all the orange juice you can drink for ten cents," honey, lemons, grapefruit and other assorted products of the horn of plenty.

Most of these places are small and unpretentious, but here on a side road near Buena Park, 22 miles from downtown Los Angeles, is one that defies all description. A place so popular it was necessary to build a town to amuse the customers while they waited for service. Walter Knott, his wife and four children run this unique establishment and their specialty is berries—boysenberries—a cross between a blackberry, raspberry and loganberry. It is a comparatively new breed, running up to an inch and a half in length, and so large around that 60 berries will fill a one-pound basket. In the late 20's Mr. Knott and Knott will serve 10,000 on a big day. But don't take the bait mislead near Buena Park and began their experiments in the berry line. In 1932 a Department of Agriculture official steered them to a "boysenberry," and Mr. Knott bought and transplanted upon his ten acres the few straggly vines this fellow still had from his experiments. The vines flourished and a roadside stand was started to sell the berries, as well as coffee and boysenberry pie. The first year, retailing through the stores, the boysenberry patch netted over $1700 per acre. In 1934 the stand was enlarged and fried chicken added to the menu. Then things really began to happen.

Good food is a lure that will make people travel many miles. Knott food was and is outstanding. On their big day in 1934 they served 85 dinners. On their big day in 1942 (Mother's Day) they served 6,330 dinners. The 1942 day dinners consumed 2,130 chickens, 1,065 pies and 31,950 biscuits. If that isn't big business for a farmer I'd like to hear your story.

With such an influx of customers there came the problem of service. Customers were forced to wait as long as two hours to get a seat. So Mr. Knott put his hand into his bag of tricks and came out with the best idea of the whole shabang—an entire town, complete in every detail, even to a replica of the famous Birdcage Theatre in Tombstone, Arizona. Then to top it all he built the only acre volcano in California—a rumbling, roaring, fire-spitting affair just like the real McCoy. Guests not so interested in the sights that a loud-speaker system had to be installed to call the people to their dinner. Out here you can get even more than after the war Mr. Knott will serve 10,000 on a big day. But don't take the bait mis-

FARMINGTON, MICHIGAN

Here's the clincher for me

This is my kid.

He's a pretty good kid.

I always used to figure he'd get along all right in the world, the same way I did.

But a war starts you thinking.

Nobody knows for sure just what kind of a world my kid will have to grow up in. But whatever kind of a world it is, a little money behind him will help.

That's why I'm saving money away for him now.

I'm not taking any chances with his future. I'm guaranteeing it in the best way I know how.

Every pay day, nearly a quarter of what I make goes into War Bonds. Not just when I can spare it. But every single pay day—week in, week out.

It's taken right out of my pay, on the Payroll Savings Plan. That way, I hardly miss it. But it mounts up fast.

And every one of those War Bonds will pay back four dollars for three.

Pay it back when my kid may need it most.

Sure, I'd be buying bonds anyway. I know the Government needs money to win the war. And, it's the least sacrifice a guy can make for the country that's been good to him.

But the clincher with me is my kid.

Chances are, you're already in the Payroll Savings Plan—buying War Bonds—doing your bit. But don't stop there. Raise your sights! Do your best!

How millions of Americans have done their bit—and how they can do better:

Of the 34 million Americans on plant pay rolls, nearly 30 million of them have joined the Payroll Savings Plan. (If you aren't in yet—sign up tomorrow!)

Those Americans who have joined the Plan are investing, on the average, 10% of their earnings in War Bonds. (If you haven't reached 10% yet—keep trying!)

BUT

America's income this year will be the highest in history—about 123 BILLION dollars! In spite of all taxes and price rises, the average worker will have more money than last year—more than ever before!

That is why Uncle Sam has a right to ask us, individually, to invest more money in War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. He asks us to invest not 10% of 15% or 20%, but all we can!

YOU'VE DONE YOUR BIT --- NOW DO YOUR BEST!
