Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting

EVEN in wartime, we'd like to give you prompt service on long distance calls. But telephone lines to many points now are overloaded, and urgent civilian calls often are

When circuits are extra busy, and the operator requests you to limit it's because others are waiting.

You can help speed the handling of all calls, including your own, if you make this your resolution:

"I will make only absolutely ne sary long distance calls. . . . If I must call long distance, I will be brief."
