PHOTOS OF ATTACK ON ATTU

U. S. NAVY OFFICIAL PHOTO—As American troops landed on Attu, Aleutian Islands, May 11, 1943, a Navy Combat Photography Unit accompanied the first wave of American troops ashore at Japanese-occupied Attu, the westernmost island of the Aleutian chain. Some of the photos—such as this—were made under fire as the Japanese snipers in the hills in the background, half hidden by fog, attempted to wipe our men (shown in the foreground) near Massacre Beach. The Japs skillfully camouflaged, came down to the edge of the line of fog and fired from the crevices in the rocks.

FAMOUS STARS BOOKED FOR WILSON THEATRE

Warren William and Violet Henning, glamorous stage screen stars, are coming to the Wilson Theatre, Detroit, starting with a matinee Sunday, June 6th in John Van Druten's sparkling comedy "There's Always Juliet." Henry Duffy considers this one of the most important offerings he has presented at the Wilson and it will follow the highly successful engagement of Zasu Pitts in "The Bat," which will end its five weeks' run on Saturday, June 5th and then be sent on tour.

Few actresses have had a more successful career than Violet Henning, acknowledged one of the most beautiful women of the theatre. At the age of 15 she won acclaim as George Arliss' leading lady in "Disraeli" and since then she has been starred in at least a score of plays among them "Yes My Darling Daughter," in "There's Always Juliet" she will have the type of high comedy role in which she excels, that of a well bred Englishwoman who indulges in a masquerade in order to impress an agreeable American who finds himself in her apartment. "There's Always Juliet" was written by John Van Druten, celebrated playwright, whose last play was "The Damask Cockey" presented on Broadway earlier this season. Warren William needs no introduction to screen fans because of his having taken his place among the Hollywood greats. Mail orders are now being received and the usual Henry Duffy policy of moderate prices for the evening performances and the Saturday and Sunday matinees will prevail through the engagement.

Soy Bean Planting

Successful crops of soybeans increase the hazard of soil erosion and also take excessive amounts of the phosphate and potash from the soil. Either oats, barley or corn is a better crop to follow soybeans. But each day sections of good cropland in America lose or lose 19 in. of topsoil and 200 trains a total of 22 horses—a drain on manpower and time that a nation at war simply cannot afford.

Will you, as a patriotic driver, enlist in the nationwide campaign now under way to stop these accidents? Here's how you can help:

1. Be extra careful—war-time careful—in all your driving.
2. Be especially alert when approaching a grade crossing.
3. Be sure the way is clear before you cross the tracks.
4. LOOK, LISTEN and LIVE!

Help keep 'em rolling for victory!
