Let's Discover America Again

This is the year to discover America. Not the America that lies hundreds of miles away which you want to visit sometime. That can wait until there's room in the trains and buses for sight-seers once more, and all the gasoline you want with no questions asked.

This year discover the America that lies right around you. When the time for your vacation comes, hunt up some of the many interesting things that are right in your own vicinity. Perhaps you haven't visited the Detroit Museum of Art for years, or maybe you'd like to spend some time at the Zoo. This is the summer to take in such things, and to tell in detail the stories brought to mind by such visits—histories of some of our most famous paintings, or perhaps a little natural history of the native habitats and life of the animals found in the zoo.

Maybe you've never taken time to visit some of the attractions close to us that in ordinary years people from miles away come to see. This is the time to see it yourself. And there's probably some lovely little lake, some stream, some hill, you've always meant to explore. Go there this summer by bicycle, or bus, if it's too far to walk.

Finally, what about the books about our state, as well as those about the Nation, that you've meant to read and haven't? This is the year to find what America really means; why it was founded; how it grew; and why it is, as Lincoln once said, "man's last best hope on earth."

The United States of America is far from perfect, as a glance at any day's newspaper headlines will tell you. Yet here man's age-old hope of freedom, of well-being, of plenty has come nearest to being realized. And here, if we continue to cling to our traditional freedoms, we can progress still further toward the ideal state. For the United States is right, powerful, efficient, with an industrial system capable of meeting all her needs, provided that it will be allowed to function once more after the war without handicaps or red tape.

Above all the United States is idealistic, with great dreams in her heart. Dreams which can inspire us today just as they inspired our forefathers who wrote her constitution, who fought for her independence, who pushed her frontiers westward in record time. In the great books that have been written about America, you can find these dreams, and, when you do, you will discover the real America and know why she is worth living for as well as worth dying for.

Relieve Fatigue in Ironing
A stable, level, well-padded ironing board, a rug or mat on which to stand, and a stool on which to sit, will relieve much of the fatigue that often accompanies ironing. A table conveniently located for stacking clothes as ironed, and the provision of hangers for clothes that are to be hung, will also contribute to ease in ironing.

Vitamin Isolation Important
Isolation of a vitamin is important since it offers hope of chemical identification and later the synthesis of the compound. It makes possible further advances in nutritional research since it can be incorporated into synthetic diets and thus serve as a tool for detecting the existence of additional vitamins.

Bread Molds Ferment
Bread molds have been found superior to malt in alcoholic fermentation.

While Reduces Beehive Heat
Painting beehive covers with at least two coats of good-quality white paint reduced average temperatures within beehives as much as 5.5, 5.8, and 8.3 degrees F., on different days, in experiments with hives located in the sun at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada. The average hive temperatures for 17 readings taken at about 15-minute intervals on a hot mid-July day for various colors of paint were: gloss white, 107 degrees; flat white, 106.1; aluminum, 109.4; canary yellow, 110.9; gloss black, 119.8; and unpainted galvanized cover, 113.8.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
New High School Auditorium Farmington

"Life" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches through the world on Sunday, July 15.

The Golden Text (Proverbs 16:22) is: "Understanding is a wellspring of life unto him that hath it."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 John 5:11-12): "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life."

Correlative passages to be read are "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p.410): "This is life eternal; says Jesus—'is, not shall be; and then he defines everlasting life as a present knowledge of his Father and of himself—the knowledge of Love, Truth and Life. 'This is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent.'"

THE HOT FOOT!

If Detroit's chickens are just coming home to roost, they sure took their sweet time.

Just 110 years ago, this very month, a company of federal troops was dispatched from Fort Gratiot (Port Huron) to Detroit for the express purpose of suppressing an insurrection of Negroes.

Good citizens of Detroit, like those of San Francisco after the "big fire" were inclined to minimize the disturbance by calling it "The Negro riot." But it was a rioting, lusty affair in which the Negroes stormed the jail, paraded the streets, shot the sheriff and otherwise had the white people in a dither of panic.

And like the 1943 rumors that whites had killed three Negroes on Belle Isle, the exaggerated reports in 1833 grew until "business was at a standstill. Women dared not venture out of doors. Merchants put up their shutters, shoved the bolts into place, and stood, gun in hand, in their darkened shops, guarding their goods."

Who said history doesn't repeat itself? It did in Detroit!

In those pre-civilized days, Detroit was the capital of the Territory of Michigan. The frontier peninsula had not yet attained the stature of statehood, which came in 1837.

When Congress enacted the Ordinance of 1787, creating the Northwest Territory out of the region between the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the Great Lakes, the federal law-makers inserted

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO (July 19, 1918)
New Residents
Benjamin F. Storms, cashier of the Peoples State Bank, has purchased the Forrest Dickinson residence on Shilawasee Street, and expects to move his family here the first of August. Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson will move to Detroit, where he has a position.

Pioneer Dies
After an illness of only a few months from stomach trouble, Christian Landau died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred Westfall, last Saturday, July 13, 1918, aged 74 years, 4 months and 20 days.

Clarenceville Girl Dies
Bertha Nacker, sister of Adolph Nacker of this village, died at the home of her father, Henry Nacker, in Livonia township last Friday, July 12, 1918, aged 40 years, 11 months and 27 days, after an illness of about six months.

TEN YEARS AGO (July 20, 1923)
Commission Will Act On Sewage Plant
A sewage treatment plant, to be built at a cost of $6,500, to $7,000 has been added to the public works program proposed for Farmington city. The whole program, as mapped by Mayor Howard Warner and Street and Sewer Commissioner Emory Halton will be presented at a special meeting of the City Commission for approval next week. The meeting will probably be held on Tuesday night.

City Tax Rate Is Reduced
A sharp further reduction in school taxes in Farmington District No. 5 will occur this year, and taxpayers in December will find their bills greatly lessened. Action by the Board of Education puts in effect a reduction of 15 per cent in the rate, while a valuations cut averaging about 20 per cent was applied to this year's assessments.

Detroiters Buy Chevrolet Agency
Transfer of a Farmington business institution was completed within the past few days, the Chevrolet motor car agency having been taken over by George W. Coon, Inc. The agency is in charge of V. R. Blakeslee of Detroit, who will move to Farmington with Mrs. Blakeslee within a few days.

FIVE YEARS AGO (July 14, 1928)
Bank Will Install Bullet Proof Glass
Bullet proof glass and new fixtures will surround the cages in the Farmington State Bank, directors disclosed this week following the holdup Monday afternoon, the second within four months. Photographs of fixtures were viewed by bank officials Thursday morning.

Zoning Progress Told Commission
The zoning code for Farmington will not be ready until later for the City Commission's consideration Paul R. Schreiber stated at a meeting of that group Monday night. He expressed the progress made to date, and asked for stenographic aid, which the Commission promised to give.

Two Fatally Injured in Car Accident
Edith Smith and Norman Barrows, Jr., who died as a result of an automobile accident Sunday morning, were buried at Acacia Park Wednesday afternoon. The young couple were buried in a double grave.

This significant provision, "There shall be neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude in the said territory otherwise than in punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted," was included in the original Louisiana Purchase.

General Levee was appointed governor of the Territory of Michigan following the War of 1812, and when the Negro Insurrection took place, he had been elevated to secretary of war at Washington.

Lewis Cass knew his Michigan, and his Detroit, and so when Mayor Chapin of the French community "on the straits" (which is the origin for the French designation of "de Troit," the prefix being pronounced "day"), made an appeal on July 25 for a detachment of the United States troops, Cass acted with dispatch.

The 1835 outbreak was caused by Negro protests against the arrest of a Negro slave named Blackburn who had escaped from Kentucky with his wife and had sought refuge in Detroit while waiting a chance to slip into Canada.

Acting on legal precedence set by Judge Woodward in 1807, the sheriff at Detroit put the Kentucky slaves in jail.

When the Negroes stormed the jail, the mobbed sheriff decided to elude the mob and take his

Michigan was settled by sturdy New Englanders. Their Puritan zeal embraced a fanatical hatred of slavery. Many July Fourth celebrations, a century ago, dwelt on the sentimental theme of the downtrodden Negroes, human chattels in the South.

Erastus Hussey, a Quaker leader at Battle Creek, was one of the evangelists in this crusade to free the slaves. In fact, the Negro housing project in Detroit (which is eluded the mob and take his)

TO ALL EMPLOYERS

Regarding the new 20% Withholding Tax

Under the new law all employers who withhold a total of $100.00 or more monthly are required to deposit the total amount withheld with an authorized depository on or before the 10th day of the following month!

The depository will issue a receipt to the employer and the receipt will be remitted as cash by the employer to the Collector of Internal Revenue when the quarterly reports are made and filed.

This bank will be a depository for such funds and all employers may deposit their withheld tax funds here and receive an official receipt for same.

Deposits to the tax account should be made either in cash or by check payable to The Farmington State Bank.

Our officers will be glad to give you whatever information you may desire. You may call in person or telephone us.
