CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
New High School Auditorium
Farmington

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 1.
The Golden Text (Psalm 63: 1) is: "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: . . . Because thy lovingkindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee."
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalm 137: 7): "How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 349): "Divine Love is infinite. Therefore all that really exists is in and of God, and manifests His love."
The theme of the lesson is: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 349): "Divine Love is infinite. Therefore all that really exists is in and of God, and manifests His love."

To Equalize Gasoline Rations
Equalizing of gasoline rationing throughout the United States east of the Rocky Mountains will be recommended by the Petroleum Administration.
"We, the War with sixty days. This action, aimed to spread the burden of war equally among all people, will probably result in some increase in gasoline rations in the East and some decrease in the Middle West and Southwest, according to Petroleum Administration leaders. It is not anticipated that there will be enough gasoline for driving which is not necessary."
Corn Needed For War Industries
Farmers who sell their corn to a country elevator buying for the Commodity Credit Corporation before August 10 are guaranteed extra payments to cover any increase in corn prices between the date they sell and October 31. Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, has commended farmers who sell corn to relieve shortages in war industries and for feed, and has announced that more than 6 million bushels have been purchased since July 1.

Michigan's contribution of manpower to World War II is already more than double the entire record for the first conflict, 25 years ago. Approximately 350,000 men and women (yes, don't forget the ladies) have left Michigan homes in cities and on farms to serve in Uncle Sam's forces all over the globe. That is a bit more than a third of a million people—quite a legion.

World War I records list the following: Army, 152,593; navy, 19,413; marines, 3,318. Total: 175,324. Of the latter number, 4295 became gold stars on the state's service flag. 24 per cent of all men and not all of those were killed in action, as influenza and other diseases took a heavy toll of lives.

In other ways the contrast is sharp. Our part in today's war has already exceeded the entire time of our participation in the first conflict. Instead of fighting one war—and with France, Italy and Japan among our allies—we have two wars on our hands; our troops are yet to land; the Axis are still subject to call. A total contribution of 400,000 to 500,000 is not improbable in view of Washington warnings of preparations to carry on the war for six more years.

Not yet, surprisingly and happily enough, the Michigan mortality rate of our modern world-wide engagements is apt to be considerably less than 2 1/2 per cent. Airplanes and tanks are the front lines of today's fighting. They require a comparatively small number of men to operate them. It is a mechanized war, so goes the new parlez vous version; not a war of mass movements and entrenched lines.

Word from Africa is encouraging with respect to the price paid for Allies victory. Tunisia was taken with an unexpected small loss of men and material. The same holds true, so far, for our invasion of Sicily. In fact, each day's news from the front shows us we always are—and Americans are the world's worst braggers—Washington is now concerned over our optimism that the war would be over soon. Why look at the way we licked Rommel in Tunisia? And isn't Sicily already a easy push-over?

While the war-makers may worry about our complacency, it is a fact that the casualty lists have been small to date. And as for the boys who have been wounded—say, there's something about wounding, about. Approximately 95 per cent of all American wounded men have recovered to date, leaving a mortality rate of only 2 per cent.

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO (August 2, 1918)

Terrible Tragedy

A terrible accident, in which four prominent Pontiac women were instantly killed and a fifth seriously injured, occurred last Thursday evening at Big Beaver Junction on the Flint division of the D.D. Among the dead is Mrs. Roy E. Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Voorheis, of this village, and sister of Mrs. F. H. Nichols, also of this village.

Burtaw Grove Writes Home

"I have been in the trenches twice, and I am now 'somewhere' not in France. It is a nice country here. You can go up on the mountains and see the country for miles. I suppose I will not know the town when we get back. I hope it will not be long before I can hear you say 'dinner ready,' but we have got to win before then. I have certainly seen a lot of country since I enlisted. I have a piece of shrapnel, that hit me on the shoe, I am saving for a watch bob."

TEN YEARS AGO (August 3, 1933)

Carrier Elected District Chaplain

Nylon Carrier of Farmington was elected chaplain for the 17th district American Legion posts for the coming year at the 17th district convention which was held in Farmington, Friday. He retired at that time as committeeman for the 17th district.

Second Dividend Starts Friday

A five percent dividend payment to depositors of the Peoples' State Bank, is announced by the receiver. The payments will be made beginning on Friday. The dividend payment was authorized by an order of Glenn C. Gillespie, circuit judge for Oakland County.

$20,000 Reduction in County Tax Seen

A reduction of more than $20,000 in the amount of the county tax assessed against Farmington township is in prospect if the State Tax Commission approves the figure set by the Board of Supervisors at their meeting last week.

FIVE YEARS AGO (July 28, 1938)

Fire Leaves Four Homeless

A family of four is homeless today because their modest homestead was completely destroyed by fire Thursday morning about 11 o'clock. All that remains is a heap of charred cement blocks, and a few pieces of what once was furniture. Allan Sherman, his wife and two small girls had left their home shortly before the fire started. They were at the nearby home of Sherman's brother when neighbors informed them of the tragedy.

Dog Days Slow Up Activities

Summer's Dog Days are here, according to Playgroup Director Paul Shoemaker, and they made their presence felt as outdoor activities were present at the handicraft sessions, however, which are held indoors.

Will Organize Sea Scout Ship

Neighborhood Scout Commissioner John Hunt, Tuesday night was officially notified by Kenneth Sanderson, of the Clinton Valley Sea Scout Executive Committee, that Farmington will organize a sea scout ship.

erment has contracted with many firms on a cost-plus basis wherein high wages are merely added to the future national debt, now past the 100 billion mark. Inflation is already here, and prices are crazily high.

The entire country—and this goes for Michigan, too—is enjoying a prosperity jaunt. The war is going to cost us many, many times the dollars we paid in 1917-18. But if the price of human life is less and our Michigan boys and girls come marching home, we will take our medicine and like it.

Increases Power Supply

It has been estimated that the use of anti-knock fuel in high-compression motors has increased the power of our civilization by the equivalent of 40 Boulder dams annually.

Pasture Supplies Feed Needs

Legume pasture furnishes pigs with protein, vitamins and minerals. Good pasture will reduce by one-third the protein which otherwise would have to be supplied in grain. Hogs raised on rotation pasture are much less likely to acquire parasites or diseases. Alfalfa is tops for hog pasture and red clover ranks next.

MONEY TRANSFERS BY WIRE

The best way to transmit funds easily and quickly is by wire. Often a man in the service requests funds to come home on a furlough and needs the money at once.

If such a need arises, come in and see us. We can wire any amount, anywhere, at any time. The cost is small and the service is fast.

What Heroes Ask

They don't always sound like heroes when they write home—those fighting men of ours all over the world who were just the neighborhood boys a few years ago and will be again before too long, God willing!

They sound like eager Americans off on a mission that's sometimes uncomfortable, often boring, but mighty exciting now and then. They write home about strange sights and strange people; about adventures and coincidences. They ask all sorts of questions about what's going on at home, and now and then they put in a note about the future. Will there be jobs for them when they get back?

Their talk of tomorrow is as practical as that. Not will democracy survive and will the four freedoms be adopted, which perhaps is what heroes might write about. But that's stuff for Fourth of July orators. What the neighborhood boys in uniform want to know is will there be things for them to do and pay checks coming in once they're back again? Or will there be grim days of depression again such as they have heard about even if they can't remember?

Soldiers overseas and in camps in this country aren't the only ones asking such questions. In business conferences, in stockholders' meetings, in committee hearings all over this land, business men are asking them too, and trying to get ready to answer them in the affirmative.

There can be enough jobs our boldest industrial leaders have declared, if industry has the necessary financial reserves to go to work on postwar ideas the day peace is declared; and if the government gives the manufacturers freedom to act according to time-honored American principles of free enterprise and individual initiative.

It's to everybody's advantage for industry to keep on at full speed when the boys come home, and certainly the least they can ask for is good, honest work to do. But will enough red tape be abandoned as soon after the war as is practicable? We all know we can't throw controls overboard the day the fighting stops or we'd have a bedlam of inflation. But will wartime controls be cut away when the time comes so that American industry can do its stuff in peacetime, as magnificently as it's doing it now in war?

It's up to all of us to help answer this question by being deeply concerned about it; by watching what's going on, and by letting those in high places know how we feel!

Drink Cocoa Scum
The scum which forms on cocoa as it cools should not be discarded, since it contains bone building material which is healthful. Just beat the cocoa with an egg beater lightly, and the scum will be broken up so that the cocoa can be enjoyed with its full nutritional content.

Repair Rips Immediately
Before starting the week's ironing, thread two needles, one with black thread and the other with white. Stick these in the end of the ironing board, and then as a small rip occurs here and there, repair it immediately while the garment is still on the ironing board. Obviously, this is practical only for the very tiny rips and tears.

Chrome Gives New Edge
Some tools can be re-equipped for many hours of production by the addition of only one to three ten-thousandths of an inch of chrome or one-thirtieth the thickness of human hair. The heaviest plate used, principally on gauges, is five thousandths to six thousandths of an inch in thickness.

Tungsten Steel
Tungsten is a toughener of steel. In machine tools it stands up under the great heat of high-speed operation, retaining a cutting edge even when red hot. Tungsten steel was used extensively in armor-plate, guns and armor-piercing projectiles; and for a variety of products, from razor blades and watch springs to pianos and electrical equipment.
