Service Notes

Sergeant James Barrons is now located at the army air base at Langley Field, Virginia.

Dear Editor:

Now that I'm located again and will be, I think, for several months may I again enjoy getting the Enterprise?

I am here with a good many sister WACs going to the "Central Signal Corps School." We will be working with and learning how to operate equipment for the purpose of sending and receiving messages at very high speed, around 150 words per minute they say. I'm in Missouri, and am waiting to let them show me.

Sincerely,
Corporal Myra Button

Dear Ed:

Have you ever gone without seeing or writing to a person for so long that when you did come to write, you couldn't find quite how to start? That's the straight I'm in at present.

Here I've been in the States for three months and I haven't even let you know of my change of address. Had I have had it changed immediately on getting to Ford Ord, I would have run into a home town boy. But no, the paper came a month late and he had left camp a week before. It seems that overseas or at home, I can't find any of the home town boys around.

I don't know whether this article was printed or not in any of the local papers. But I believe that it gives a pretty good picture of the type of person we are at war with. I don't consider myself chicken-hearted but this story affected me immensely.

A message to corporal Herbert Barnum: Nice going, fellow. You're off to a good start. Thanks.

Sincerely,
W. F. Barnum.

Editor's Note: The article to which Corporal Barnum referred was the one about the U. S. Airman being beheaded by the Japs, after his capture. The story he sent was taken from the San Francisco Examiner.

Dear Sir:

I wish to inform you of my change of address, and to thank you for sending me the paper.

We are going to leave our maneuvers out here in the desert. We will have a little of desert training first before we start.

I like the service notes a lot, and that is the first thing I read before the rest of the paper.

Thank you,
Private Bill Varian.

Upon completion of a highly specialized combat and administrative Quartermaster training course at the Quartermaster School at Camp Lee, Virginia, T. George E. Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevenson of 621 Charlotte Street, Detroit, will be qualified to serve as a key non-commissioned officer in the vital battle of supply. He is now undergoing a rigorous check schedule of classroom and field work, including logistical and tactical warfare.

September 17, 1943

Sir:

As you can see by my new address, I'm out of the States and at the moment can't tell you where I'm located.

The Farmington Enterprise is enjoyed not only by myself, but by a number of my buddies. I've been receiving it for the past year and a half, and enjoy it more than ever. It's a real morale builder to read about the persons, places and things back home.

I'd appreciate it very much if you would keep on sending it as it informs me of the whereabouts of many of my buddies who are in this war with me but in different parts of the world.

I'm in good health and having good meals and I hope this war ends soon so I can get back to good old Farmington and see what changes as well as progress (which I am sure of) has been made.

All you folks have to do is keep the good food coming and we'll keep the Japs rolling (backwards) along!

Give my regards to my buddies in the rear and on the home front. So long for now.

Sincerely,
James J. Belcher.

P. S. Could I go for those good Farmington watermelons? We don't have them here, you can bet your life on that.

Private William Mulder of the Marine Air Corps graduated from Navy Pier, having finished the Aviation Mechanist Mate course. Since he had one of sixty highest averages he has been sent to B Specialist School, located in Chicago, for 16 weeks. He has been raised in rank to Private First Class.

Pfc. Bob Hinger has returned to Minneapolis where he is attending school after spending his furlough with his parents.

John Hulett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hulett, has finished his boot training at Great Lakes and arrived Tuesday for a nine day leave.

Private Russell Buck from somewhere in Alaska, has written his mother that he enjoyed the trip to his present camp, and finds the people very friendly to the boys in the service of their country.

October 5, 1943

Dear Editor:

I suppose I should have written you long ago to thank you for the paper but it seems that something in my medical unit during the past year.

I have been changing camps quite often here lately. After I joined my outfit, which is the 45th General Hospital, in Camp

Ellis, Illinois, I moved to Fort Riley, Kansas, where I spent three weeks in school and about a week and a half in the hospital working in a pre-operative ward. Then they decided that about eight of us needed some advanced training to fill out the T.O. I just happened to be one of the lucky ones that got the chance so here I am down in Missouri, just eighty five miles from my home town.

I met one of the boys from Farmington in the station hospital at Fort Riley. I came out of the hospital one day and just happened to see someone coming down the hall that looked familiar. It was Tommy Gawne. He has been in Infantry training there at the Fort.

Time is growing very short so I'll have to bring this to a close. Thanking you again for the paper.

Sincerely,
Oren L. Mitchell
Springfield, Missouri

Lowell Ryall has been awarded a ribbon as recognition for service in his medical unit during the past year.

Bill Pink is now a Cadet Flight Lieutenant and is stationed at Lafayette, Louisiana.

Draft Varies

The amount of draft in the chimney depends on the barometric pressure. This varies with the weather so that on some days the draft will be stronger than on others. Thus, it is possible that on a "muggy" day there will not be sufficient draft to take all the products of combustion out of the furnace. If the check-draft damper has been set for a clear, windy day. By reducing the opening in the check-draft door on the smokepipe the draft will be increased and smoke from this source eliminated.

Employ Elders

More than one-third of the persons employed in the United States in May, 1943, were 45 years of age or older.

DATE SET FOR COLLECTION OF TIN CANS

Ten tons of tin cans for victory. That is what the City and Township of Farmington has collected so far this year. Harvey Blough of the Salvage Committee revealed last Tuesday. This, of course, while good, is far below requirements. The need for tin cans is urgent and that is why Wednesday, October 20, has been set aside by Mr. Blough as another tin can collection day for the City of Farmington.

Residents are asked to have their flattened tin cans at the curb by eight o'clock the morning of the 20th. City trucks will collect tin cans only in the city limits and township residents are asked to bring their tin cans to the Community Salvage Center located in the rear of the Farmington Lumber and Coal Company.

"It is hoped," said Mr. Blough, "that we will have a record pickup of tin cans next Wednesday and we are appealing to the local citizens for their continued assistance."

Betty White Marries Harrison Graves

A quiet wedding was held last Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle White of Lexington Avenue, when their daughter, Betty, became the bride of Private Harrison Graves. The bride and groom are leaving Friday for Marianna, Florida, where Private Graves is stationed with the Medical Corps.

MISS HANSEN AND JOHN PRICE MARRIED HERE

The marriage of Corporal John Price, son of Mrs. Edith Price of Farmington, and Miss Catherine Hansen, daughter of Peter Hansen of Chicago, took place Monday evening at the Evangelical parsonage, with Rev. Carl Schultz officiating.

For the wedding, the bride wore a dress of pastel blue with silver sequin trim, and corsage of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Calvin Mason of Farmington, who wore pastel green.

Calvin Mason was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, open house was held at the Mason home on Warner Avenue.

The young couple have gone north for a few days. Corporal Price will report to New York upon their return, and Mrs. Price will return to Chicago.

Student Council Holds First Meeting

The Student Council of Farmington Public Schools held their first meeting last Wednesday. Shirley Overmyer, a Junior, was unanimously elected as secretary-treasurer of the group. Don Kosmetsky is the president.

The meeting was given over to the discussion of ways and means and activities for the year.

Miss Elizabeth Haymak spent the weekend in Detroit and Miss Marjorie Harvey was in Ypsilanti for the weekend and attended the football game in Ann Arbor.

Word is being received by friends from the Dragomer family that they are enjoying their trip to California. On October 6 they were in Rawlins, Wyoming, and were leaving for Salt Lake City.

Joseph W. Wilkinson, who is stationed in California, has been promoted to the rank of Sergeant.

Cadet Donald E. Duell has been moved from Houston to Childress, Texas, for further training.
