Brewers' Yeast

Brewers Yeast

For the most part, yeast is now produced for basing purposes and as a by-produced of the brewing industry. Of approximately 30 million pounds of, surplus brewers' yeast produced annually in the United States, three to four million pounds is debittered and used in the pharmaceutical trade, eight to nine million pounds is fed to livestock, and the balance, more than 50 per cent of the total, is wasted down the sewers.

Ouestion: What is wrong in this EMPTY ROOM?

Answer: The light has been left burning though the room is unoccupied. And while that isn't serious in normal times, today such thoughtlessness means a waste of coal, transportation, manpower and other critical resources. All of these things are necessary to manufacture electricity, and the Government has asked for voluntary conservation in your use of electric power.

Every time you snap an electric switch. you have an opportunity to SAVE-in your home, store or office. Electricity is not rationed and there is no shortage in this area. But conserving fuel and critical resources is vitally important today. Conserve wherever you can, as much as you can. The Detroit Edison Company.
