Our Pledge To Unity

This week finds us nearing the end of the Fourth War Loan Drive, a drive to buy extra Bonds to help in the business of winning the war. As in the past, this community is doing its part to see that each and every drive is carried through to a successful climax.

This is one of the most important activities that This is one of the most important activities that we on the home front can possibly carry on. The knowledge that we are united behind them, will do more to furnish our men with the drive and power that is needed to secure victory, than any one thing we could do—with the exception of constantly supplying them with the weapons and supplies they must have. Both of these objectives are accomplished with the complete success of the Fourth Wan Loan Drive, for your dollars provide the needed supplies both to our forces, and to our allies, and the success of the drive is proof of our unity of purpose. the drive is proof of our unity of purpose.

The American Red Cross will soon launch its annual drive for funds. By our cooperation, we are supplying our men with another much needed service. It is established time and again through letters and other media, that the American Red Cross has done—and will continue to do—everything possible for the comfort, both mental and physical, jf our men. What they have done for prisoners of war, their services in establishing contacts with wounded or missing men, and the comfort they are able to or missing men, and the comport they are alle to bring those boys, who are out of touch with family on friends, is a service every American should recog-nize, and assume a personal responsibility in that nothing interrupts this splendid work.

When you give to the American Red Cross next month, don't give as you have in the past—do more than that. The work of the Red Cross is doubled many times over, and we should do as much to inmany times over, and we should do as intent of increase our contribution accordingly. Just remember, maybe your son is being assisted by the Red Cross right now. You wouldn't want him to need help and not have it, because you failed to do your part, would you? Think it over, and be ready with contribution for the American Red Cross Roll your contribut Call in March.

The Women Proposed

How comes the accepted tradition that it is the woman who proposes in Leap Year?

It seems to have originated in Scotland during the thirteenth century, when there was a preponder-ance both of unmarried women and of timid men. A law was passed which decreed that when a matrimonially-inclined lady approached an eligible gent dur ing Leap Year, he had to say Yes or fork over a fine

Apparently that solved the spinster problem for the Scots, for soon similar laws were enacted in France and in Italy. Thus the tradition was born.

The women of America, however, waited neither for government decree nor for traditional Leap Year to propose wedding themselves to industry when our country was imperiled. History will record their considerable achievement in war production as well as in the uniforms of the armed forces.

Some of them may remain at work in postwar, due to the sacrifices paid in battle by their breadwinners. Industry, which has helped them make the most of their talents in its necessity, will help them again in

But the great majority of war-working will prefer, surveys show, to return to their domestic duties and doings. They will resume their usual utilities and their feminine frills with the grateful thanks of us all, and the inner consciousness of a job—voluntarily entered into—nobly done.
