Slip Bombing
Bombs weighing about 750 pounds are best for slip-bombing. Those weighing 2,000 pounds are too heavy, and those less than 500 pounds.

Increase Locker Storage With Proper Planning

Five hundred to 1,000 pounds of the family's home-grown perishable foods can be put through a frost-free locker in a year if the storage schedule is properly managed. Although an average locker will hold only about 200 pounds of food at any one time this capacity can be increased and even multiplied by regulating the traffic in and out of it. The first step is to budget the year's supply. In case of a family of five, it would be necessary to determine which of the 8,500 pounds of food needed for the year can be preserved best by freezing.

Knowing the seasons in which different foods are available makes it possible to schedule beef for freezing in March, fruit and vegetables for summer, when part of the beef has been used, and dressed pork for October, after some of the berries and beans have been consumed.

Some 2,500 pounds of that 8,500-pound family food budget can be preserved by freezing, cooking, canning, freezing the steaks, roasts and chops, curing the ham and bacon, and canning the stew and ground meat makes efficient use of the most dangerous and desirable variety to the dinner table. Frozen berries, peas, beans, and asparagus provide a pleasant change from canned vegetables and sauerkraut.

Cake for that occasion will be baked by Mrs. Arthur Muir.

A starry bit of burning paper picked up by breezes blowing over a flaming pile of rubbish caused considerable excitement on Hubbard Avenue Thursday afternoon. Fire was discovered to be spreading over the yard and starting on an outbuilding on the property of Mrs. Margaret Martin, who lives alone in a cottage near the corner of Hubbard Avenue and Norfolk. Neighbors came to the woman's aid, but it was necessary to call the State Police to assist in fighting the fire. After mid-afternoon and in the evening practically all the men in the neighborhood are at work in defense plants. Women must usually manage affairs pretty much alone.

It was believed that every spark was extinguished but about ten o'clock Thursday night, Miss Ada Lee Rocker, who lives on Norfolk across from Mrs. Martin's home, went running across to inform the elderly woman that the back of her house was smoldering and smoking. Armed with an ax the two women tore off siding and finally succeeded in destroying all remains of the fire. Not a great deal of damage was done, but Grandma Martin, as well as her little home, had a narrow escape.

Cats in West Point Park have a hazardous existence. Dogs are even more plentiful and many of them wage such war upon the feline race that few cats enjoy the traditional nine lives. Yet, where homes are built on acre lots and are low built, near the ground, places soon become overrun with mice, particularly the field variety, if cats are not household pets. With this fact in mind the mother of a large family of boys and girls recently learned some months ago the ownership of a stray kitten. The animal became a valued member of the household as well as a devoted companion to the children. But alas! A week ago a neighbor's dog snapped up the little thing in its cruel jaws and the kitten was left dying in the yard near the home to which it belonged.

The boys and girls of that family were broken hearted, but idea came to their young minds and they proceeded to carry it out. Shortly all appeared at prayer meeting in the little church nearby. There they had heard prayers made for the sick and suffering and many folks who were in trouble. Results had seemed to be forthcoming. So tearfully, but in all faith the children requested of those in charge that prayers be said for their feline friend. The cat died, but perhaps prayer was answered in an unexpected way. For it is understood that a handsome Persian animal is soon to sleep in the basket bed formerly occupied by the mongrel cat.

First Losses

China's first losses to Japan followed the short Sino-Japanese war of 1894-95, from which the major Japanese gain was a big southward step to tropical Formosa (Taiwan), an island area nearly twice as large as New Jersey. This island, in addition to welcome supplies of minerals, tea, sugar and rice, gave Japan until very recently a virtual monopoly on camphor. Now the island supports three million people, about 95 per cent of them Japanese. The near-by Pescadore Islands were taken from China at the same time. Mako Island in the Pescadores has been converted into a naval base. Along with these island acquisitions Japan wrested from China a foothold on the continent of Asia. China agreed to recognize Korea (Chosen) as an independent state and ceded the tip of the near-by peninsula of Liaotung, site of the important leased area of Kwantung and of the ports now known as Dairen and Ryokun. At that time Ryokun (Port Arthur) was extensively used by Russia when more northern ports were frozen over. Russia growled at the prospect of Japanese encroachment on Asia's mainland; so Japan hastily sold back the Liaotung peninsula to China.

Taught to Fight
When Peter the Great suffered reverses on the battlefield, he would shout, "Good! Our enemy is teaching us how to fight!" The man who takes his past mistakes in that spirit will be so busy learning and growing that he will have no time for worry, no time for a sense of guilt or inferiority.

Mrs. Russell Ault is able to be up and around a little after her long illness.
