Spring Fling Flung

Saturday night the Student Council gave a record dance. The juke box literally bloomed with the newest records: fast, slow, sweet and smooth. Even though it was mighty cold for a spring fling, the hepcats turned out in large numbers.

USE SPARE MOMENTS TO READ AND RELAX

Because Australia is playing an important part in world affairs today, we find it necessary to know more about its history, geography, and strange animals. "Australia: The Island Continent" by Grace Allen Hogarth supplies one with information about one of the richest and wildest sections of the country.

Although the past has been lived, it reflects upon us today—especially in a field as great as music. Compiled and edited by David Ewen, "Composers of Yesterday" relates to us the biographies of the most prominent composers of the past.

Did you know that Johannes Brahms had no piano upon which he could practice and that at the age of sixteen Brahms had given two public concerts? More of these hidden details of the life of Brahms are revealed by Madeleine Goss and Robert Haven Schauf, in their book "Brahms the Master."

"American Trees!" This beautifully illustrated book by Russell Limbach will acquaint one with fifty-five different kinds of trees which can be found in the United States.

Redwings Hailed As Junior High Champions

Friday, March 10, climaxed the boy's Junior High Basketball league. The two teams in the final play-off game were the Red Wings and Wildcats. The score at the half was 31 to 6 in favor of the Red Wings. The Wildcats didn't score in the second half, but the Red Wings made 13 more points. The final score was Red Wings 24 and Wildcats 6.

The Greco brothers of the Red Wings made 15 points with George scoring 5 points and John 7. George Greco was high point man for the winning team; Bob Weaver high point man for the losing team. Mr. Chapman is the coach.

"BETTER CARE—LESS REPAIR"

because repairmen and materials HAVE GONE TO WAR!

What are your electric appliances made of? Copper, steel, brass, zinc, aluminum, nickel, rubber... materials vital to war production. Needed to make weapons for our fighting men. These materials have gone to war. That is why repair parts for many home appliances are not now available.

The man who used to fix your washer or refrigerator may now be repairing tanks on the battlefield. The man who serviced your radio may be repairing a "walkie-talkie" under fire. Your neighborhood "handyman" may be working on airplane engines in Britain or the South Seas.

So take good care of your household electric appliances. They must last until Victory. You may not be able to get them repaired. Today your ELECTRIC servants are often the only kind available: Treat them considerably!
