TELEPHONE CO. ADOPTS PLAN FOR EMPLOYMENT

George M. Welch, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, today announced the adoption by the company of a comprehensive plan for its employees returning from military service in World War II.

A statement under Welch's signature, the announcement said, is being sent to all of the company's 2,800 employees now in the armed forces, both at home and abroad, advising them of the details of the plan for their employment.

The plan provides for: Prompt attention to the case of every veteran. Individual interviews and medical examinations in order that veterans be placed in work for which they are best qualified. The same basic wages or salaries as they had when they left, plus any general increases during their absence, for those returning to their old jobs at the same or similar locations. Sickmost disability benefits, under the company's Employees' Benefit Plan, for the temporarily disabled, pending their recovery sufficiently to return to work.

Special training to fit handicapped veterans into work in which their qualifications best can be utilized.

Assistance in contacting the proper governmental agencies for the permanently disabled, incapacitated for work of any kind. "As a matter of policy," Welch said, "we intend to live up to and beyond the spirit of legislation covering the reemployment of veterans returning from military service. Our employee veterans will resume work on the same basis and will be accorded the same treatment as all other regular employees of the company, and an effort will be made to place each in the job that will bring out his maximum capacity and best further his well being. With that as the objective, the physical examination of the returning employee and all interviews with him are directed toward proper placement."

Some phases of the company's reemployment plan already are in effect. Seventy-eight veterans, including three women, are back on the job with the company, following their separation from military service.

Private First Class John J. Sherman, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sherman of 20010 Mayfield Avenue, Farmington, is now serving overseas as an advanced radio technician at a Ninth Air Force Service Command Advanced Depot somewhere in England. A prime component of the Allied Expeditionary Air Force, the Ninth Air Force Service Command is the repair and supply arm for medium bombers and fighters now operating against the enemy. Backed by trained technicians such as Pfc Sherman, it maintains intensive repair facilities for front line airfields which launch the current air offensives over Nazi-Europe.

Pfc Sherman is the husband of Mrs. Virginia M. Sherman who lives with their one-year-old daughter, Jacqueline M. Sherman, at 20011 Hanna Street, Detroit. Graduated from Farmington High School, class of 1939, he had been employed for three years as an electrician at the Wayne Electrical Company, Detroit, before entering the service at Fort Custer, Michigan, on February 6, 1943. After a course of study at Tri-Stat Radio School, Madison, Wisconsin, he was sent overseas, arriving in England late in 1943.

Dear Editor:

After receiving several copies of your paper, I've finally found a chance to let you know how much I appreciate reading your paper. Not only does it bring news at home, but it lets a fellow know just where the fellows are he used to chum and go to school with.

We live in tents here, and it's a great life, up in the morning when the sun starts to shine so clear and bright. May we be able to preserve all these days and many more to come.

I've got to run now. I hear "old Faithful" the bugle, but thanks millions for the Farmington Enterprise.

As Ever Yours,
Pvt. Wesley Smith,
Camp Sutton, N. Carolina.

Service Notes

May 14, 1944

Sir: I have been receiving the Enterprise for over a year, now and also touch it very much. It keeps me in touch with the other servicemen and the people back home as well. I am in Camp Pickett, Virginia. Now so thought I would take time out and write to the paper. This gives me a chance to say hello to the people at home and also thank you for the paper as well. I hope that the Blue Star Mothers are still doing their good work for the boys overseas. I just got into this camp and have quite a few things to do so will have to close for now. Thanking you again for the paper.

Sincerely,
Edgar West.

Private Hazen Nelson is home on furlough following an operation.

Sergeant Leon Gardner is enjoying a short furlough from camp.

Private Bill Hautamaki has been transferred to LaGuardia Field.

Technical Sergeant Edward Fink is confined to a hospital in England, with a broken leg.

Wesley Smith is home on furlough.

Bob Hunter, from the Air Base at Clovis, New Mexico, arrived home Friday night for a furlough, which he will spend with his mother, Mrs. M. E. Ault of Mayfield Avenue. Chuck Schmidt, brother of Norbert Schmidt, of Shadydale Avenue, came with him.

Edward Timm, 26, husband of Mrs. Mattie Timm, 20225 Middle Belt Road, Farmington, is receiving his first naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Illinois. Other local young men who have recently reported to Great Lakes include Phillip Mume, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Mume, 30850 Twelve Mile, and Russell Lavens Johnson, 26, husband of Helen Johnson, 21615 Tulane.

CLARENCEVILLE

Mrs. Mary Rutla

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans, Miss Smith, Mrs. Hobbins, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Lavrason, Mrs. Schenk, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Runyon were among those who attended the funeral in Pontiac on Monday, of Miss Gertrude Bittlich, Oakland County Health Nurse, who died following an illness of ten weeks. Miss Bittlich was confined to St. Joseph's Hospital at the time of her death. She will be missed by many people as she has served in this capacity for the past ten years, in the territory as far west as Novi, and north to Muttonville, and to Clarenceville on the South. She was an ardent worker in the Methodist Church in Pontiac. She leaves an only sister, as well as some aunts who live in Calumet, where she was born.

The Cubs of Swarthout Den attended the Circus at Olympia on Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Charest and little children have taken up residence in the Herman Gardens Apartments.

The Girl Scouts of Troop Six, their leaders, Barnes, Moyer and Lawrason, gave a Mother's Day Tea for the mothers of the girls on Saturday afternoon. The girls made corsages for their mothers, and Saturday morning one patrol got the Edgewood Kindergarten room and table in readiness while the other patrol baked the cakes. The program consisted of songs, folk dances, and recitations, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. Frank Cartee fell down the basement steps of her home last Tuesday and fractured some ribs, but is much better.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Scott of Middlebelt are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Troop Seven Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Satterfield and Mrs. Evans entertained the mothers of the girls Monday evening at the High School.

Mrs. M. J. Belser entertained a number of friends at a shower Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. William Scott.

Each of the 77 or more couples who attended the Senior Prom report a wonderful time. The Top Hatters furnished the music for the occasion.

Don't forget the bake sale at Robertson's Hardware on Saturday, for the Girl Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Swarthout and son, Kenneth, left on Tuesday morning for New York and Boston.

While in New York Mr. Swarthout will represent Detroit as delegate to the Boy Scout Convention being held there this week.

A number of young children of the community were members of the First Communion Class Sunday, so ably prepared by the Sisters of Our Lady of Sorrows School.

Some hundred or more mothers and daughters were present and thoroughly enjoyed the banquet held on Friday evening at the Methodist Church.

The Boy Scouts were guests of the management of the Civic Theatre Tuesday evening for the showing of "Henry Aldrich Boy Scout."

The Art Walsh's visited with relatives in Royal Oak on Sunday. Don't forget the Musical Festival May 24 at Redford Union Gym.

The Boy Scouts of CL 1 held their first Court of Honor on Sunday afternoon at the High School. Mr. Belser, chairman of the committee, presided over the Court.

A good number of the parents and friends were present, and 18 boys were awarded Second Class badges, and four First Class badges.

Scouts receiving Merit Badges. The High School Band, under Mr. Mann's direction, and composed of a number of the Scouts, presented many musical selections preceding the Court while Mr. Hocking at the piano, and Mr. Bohltho and Mr. Swarthout led the community singing.

Mr. Barry of Cambridge, Mr. Kenneth Riddle and Mr. Kenneth Burt of Oxford have recently joined the group of leaders. The boys have a wonderful selection of men, keenly interested in young folks, and having boys in, an organization of which they are the counselors. The boys should go far in Scouting. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Dixon, District and community commissioners, respectively, were guests for the afternoon.

Mr. Belser reported how the Board of Education, the sponsoring institution, had voted money to buy tents for the boys to use on their next encampment, which Scoutmaster Campbell announced would be held the week end of May 26th, and added that the $100 or more the boys made on the paper drive, could be used for additional camping equipment. With the Scouts taking advantage of all that is being done for them, and they are doing for themselves, some fine leadership should come forward in years to come. Miss Elsie Johns gave the boys some choice bits of advice in her brief and to the point address. The meeting closed with taps by Scouts Bohltho and Grose, following which cookies and ice cream were served.
