Caramel Syrup
Caramel syrup is mighty useful to pour over beans before baking, in confectioner's sugar cake icings; for candied sweet potatoes and even in gravy. Brown a cup of white sugar in a skillet, stirring constantly until melted and caramelized; remove from heat, add one-half cup boiling water, then return to heat and cool until thick. Store in a small container.

FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS!
A glowing bride is joined in wedlock to her gallant Soldier... traditionally lovely in romantic gown she wears her beauty as a banner of courage, knowing that the ceremony will be followed too soon by a fond farewell. She will wear her Orange Blossom diamond rings proudly and by her loneliness and sacrifice help him to win victory and a peace secure. Brave with the resolve to do or die he will fight unflinchingly for those things we all hold dear. The bonds we buy today and the work we do are the sinews upon which he must rely.

Dear Friends:
There is just one thing that we must not forget, and that is this: We are not alone in this War. We are all on the same team, playing together, fighting together, and you back home are working together, so why not let's all buy Bonds together to win this Victory. Buy for ourselves, but for each other.

That's what all of us are buying bonds for, to win this war, to get back home again, and go back to our job, and go back to living our own free lives in a land, and in a world like America, where everyone can be free to be somebody, and where every man, woman and child has an opportunity to be useful to all his fellow men. The coming invasion will be the greatest military campaign of all time. It will cut our own armed forces, and those of our allies to the very utmost. This invasion is a crucial one, and there will be no second choice. The first one must be the decisive one. The civilian population has a job to do equally as important as the men in the Armed Service in connection with this invasion. It is

FIRST NEWS CONFERENCE

CHICAGO—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential nominee, shown in a closeup with representatives of the press, during his first news conference.

Your job to see to it that the blood plasma, the equipment, the fuel, the ammunition, the gasoline, the ships, the planes and the million other things needed by the invasion forces are present in sufficient quantities. Your job can play a great part in the success of the invasion. Many of our boys who cross the English Channel on the invasion day will not live to return again. They will make the supreme sacrifice, to assure the success of this invasion, and to make America a free country once more, where each and every one can live a free life.

So let's all get together for the big pay-off, and everyone back home buy all the bonds they possibly can and we will do the same over here, and by working and buying Bonds together, we can make this invasion and the Bond drive a success.

Then we can prove to the Japs and Nazis that no matter how hard they try to ruin our America or disgrace our people in any way we can prove to them, that by every one of us working, fighting, flying and buying Bonds together, that their doom is growing closer and closer every day.

So let's all work together to keep America free for all of us, and that's the kind of America that we want when we come back home again, and the only way to assure you this kind of a country is to buy more fighting bonds, so that your father, brother, husband, sister or sweetheart, whatever he or she may be, out there on the battle front, can have every bit of fighting equipment that takes to win this Victory, so that the America that we return to, will be better still than when we left it and let's all hope that will be soon.

Dear Mother:
Everything is going along fine here. Gen. Mark Clark presented our Company with the Merit Plaque of the Fifth Army for our outstanding performance on the beachhead. He also awarded medals to two of the boys from this Company for their fine service on the North African Desert last summer. This was a great thrill for all of us boys.
Brig. Gen. Ford also was there
