

Garden Hose
For watering plants, a garden hose with an adjustable nozzle is best. For long wear, keep the hose free of kinks, and keep it out of the sun whenever it is not in use. Coil and store it in a cool place.

— KEEP ON BUYING WAR BONDS —

"My neighbor on the next street had a telephone installed. Why did he get one before me?"

Possibly your neighbor is a person to whom a telephone is essential in performance of important war duties, or for public health, welfare or security. Such orders come first today, and are filled promptly.

Or he may have moved from elsewhere in the same exchange or an adjacent one where he already had service. Or, it may be that your neighbor ordered a telephone before you did, in which case it's only right that he should have the preference. Such orders can be installed only as present users give up service. In handling them, we follow a uniform and fair procedure provided for in orders of the War Production Board and in tariffs filed with the proper regulatory bodies.

Problems like this are unavoidable in wartime, when the armed forces need almost all the telephone and other communications equipment that can be manufactured. We, too, will be glad when we again can supply all the service everybody needs — immediately.

NEW PHILIPPINE PRESIDENT

Various routine matters were taken care of and it was reported that in the immediate neighborhood four persons had entered hospitals during the week and as many more were ill at home under the care of physicians which is an unusual number for this time of the year. At the close of the afternoon delicious home made cake, contributed by Mrs. Willet, was served with an iced drink. The next Sunshine get-together will be held in the Neighborhood Church on Wednesday afternoon, August 10th, at 2:30 and it is whispered around that a surprise is on for that occasion.

Appearing much refreshed after a vacation in northern Michigan, Rev. Axel Edwards preached once more at the Vesper meeting in the Neighborhood Church Sunday at 8 o'clock. His theme was "The Name" and all songs sung were in keeping with that topic, making a beautiful service. Previous to his sermon Rev. Edwards gave an interesting description of his trip, visiting old pastorates, stopping at homes of relatives and indulging in fishing excursions near and beyond Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Willets and daughter, of Mayfield Ave., left Wednesday evening for a week's vacation trip.

William Soos and family of Shadydale Ave. are enjoying a vacation in a cottage at Houghton Lake.

Mrs. Margaret Martin was among a group of twenty-one lady Macabees who enjoyed a boat excursion to Sandusky and back Saturday.

Clinton Ault was ill at his home several days this last week.

Edwin L. Johnson has been on the sick list the last few days.

Among those suffering from heat prostration the last week are Dolores Jean Ault and Mrs. Harold McVicar. Both are feeling much better.

A baby girl was born to the Posners, of Farmington Road, Wednesday, August 2nd. It is expected that Mrs. Posner and the new baby may be brought home from the hospital early this week.

Aunt Roger Frederick, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Schmidt Wednesday. It is understood that mother and child are doing nicely.

While her mother is at Florence Crittenton Hospital, Miss Grenville Schmidt is the house guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ault.

The Neighborhood Church is open Thursday evenings to any who wish to come for Christian fellowship, prayer and Bible study. Many profitable evenings are spent there.

Mrs. Ralph Voorhees and Mrs. Clinton Ault spent Thursday together in Detroit.

As an attendance reward, Miss Patty Shult received a nicely bound volume of Bible stories at the Neighborhood Bible School Sunday morning.

Asparagus Bed

A good asparagus bed starts bearing the third season, and will produce good crops for 15 to 20 years more, if the weeds are kept out and the soil is fertilized. Rubbery will last for a long time, and one requires re-setting of the roots in about eight years, when they get too crowded. The only serious pest of the present rust-free asparagus is the asparagus beetle, and this is easily controlled with a lead arsenate spray or dust.

Fertile Yearly

The asparagus bed should be fertilized every year the same as the rest of the garden. It should be harrowed every spring before growth starts and should be cultivated during the growing season, to control weeds, including grass. For convenience in plowing the balance of the garden, it is best to have the asparagus at one side or in a separate garden.

Controls Weeds

Much of pest moss, marsh hay, grass clippings, straw or leaves can be used for many crops, to control weeds and save soil water.

These are books for all boys and girls, to help while away the hours until school starts!

From Macborough Street—Elizabeth Philbrook "Just remember, Nancy, no matter what happens, use your head." Now that Nancy had settled back in the rumbling stagecoach for her two hundred mile journey, her father's parting words kept turning over in her mind. Although she couldn't for the life of her figure out what the mystery about the blue teapot was, she did know that the locked box she was carrying to her Uncle Jonathan had something to do with it.

Nancy had no adventure after another box. She almost lost her valuable box. She did lose the key to it. And she spent two gold coins in an unusual way. How Nancy happened to tell a special story to a crowded courtroom; what a daring ride on horseback meant to her Uncle Jonathan; and what a new friend taught her about seeing a thing through, make this quest a story you will remember.

Here Comes Pete—Eleanor Clymer. Maybe you know such a boy as Pete. He may be younger than you are, but he is so friendly and cheerful that you never think of saying he is too little to play with you.

Among Pete's friends is Tony, the vegetable man. Tony even took Pete for a ride, but best of all, Tony invited Pete to come to see his family and garden and goat. You will also like the telephone man, who let Pete climb a ladder. You will like Mr. Kelly, the baker, who bought special chocolate cup cakes. And you will have fun with Pete and his sister and his cousin and his friend next door. He didn't know which he liked better—his birthday party or Christmas. For his birthday party was different from any you have known. And you will be amazed over his Christmas.

Puppy Stakes—Betty Cavanaugh. "Puppy's having pups," was hardly the welcome Janey expected. Here she was—practically a stranger—arriving at her aunt's country home after saying goodbye to her mother who was joining her Army Captain father in California. It was too much, and Janey dissolved into tears of self pity.

But the litter of cocker spaniels who stole the limelight from Janey's arrival won her heart just as they will yours in this delightfully different story. You'll share Janey's joy when she gets Budge, a puppy of her very own to raise and train. And you'll applaud her efforts to be truly unselfish.

Besides you'll like Hugh and Jennifer, the shy English refugees. Stephen, Janey's cousin and rival, Aunt Cleo and Uncle Mark with their contagious enthusiasm for dogs. There are plenty of breathless moments—Budge's sudden illness, the scrap metal drive, a field trial, and a new kind of puppy competition. Janey's visit to Hammer Hollow is a never-to-be-forgotten experience for her—and for you.

Food Value
Potatoes pack a lot of food value. If eaten daily they can provide as much as 25 per cent of the average person's vitamin C needs, as well as the B1 vitamin, iron and other minerals.
