Chinese Farmer Outwits 22 Japs Before Hengyang, China, fell into Japanese hands, 22 Japanese soldiers got lost, and as the story is told in the official Chinese magazine, China At War, the Japs "shanghaied" a Chinese farmer and ordered him to guide them in the direction of Changsha, a city that had already fallen into Japanese hands. The Chinese farmer, knowing his countryside, deliberately led the Japs on a winding course that finally landed all 22 of them into the Hananchi troops—as prisoners of war.

New Storm Warning Service
The newly organized Severe Storm Warning Service, now operating in the plains states and the southwest where twisters are most prevalent, is expected to spread to other parts of the country next year and to become a permanent service. The warning service—a joint operation of the Army Air Forces Weather Service, the Government Weather Bureau and the Office of Civilian Defense—has networks for reporting tornadoes, heavy thunderstorms, hail, strong winds and cloudbursts. If warnings come soon enough, emergency measures will avoid much damage. The OGD is now recruiting spotters to man observation posts in the area served by the warning service.

Pressure Canners Now "Freed"
Distribution of pressure canners was released from all controls by the War Food Administration September 21. Production of canners for first nine months of 1944 is estimated at 400,000, compared to 65,000 in 1942. WFA expects manufacturers to continue production on into 1945, thus having canners on the market for spring and summer vegetables.

Be Careful—And Patriotic
Because home accidents that killed 6,000 workers last year seriously impeded the war effort, the Federal Security Agency endorses these safety suggestions.—Walk—don't run, especially on stairways; don't carry heavy loads on stairways; don't let children play on unprotected stairways; don't let floors become slippery or cluttered; never leave soap in bathtub and use non-skid mat to prevent slipping; keep utensil handles turned away from edge of stove; never touch an electric fixture and a grounded metal object at the same time; disconnect electrical appliances when not in use; don't smoke in bed; keep pillows out of babies' beds; keep pins, needles and sharp tools away from children; keep garage doors open when starting car; and use short ladders instead of stools, chairs or boxes in reaching for high places.

Asks For Netherlands Harvest
In an appeal to the farmers of Occupied Holland, Radio Orange, the Netherlands broadcasting station in London, pleaded— "The farmers most emphatically to avoid any destruction of threshing machines. That destruction would be detrimental to the cause of the fatherland. The country wants the farmers to gather and deliver their harvest and report the results to the authorities in charge of distribution of agricultural products."

A Bit Of Home In Foxhole Or PX
American fighting men in this war "are getting every food nutritional thing necessary to keep them in top physical strength," declared Lee Marshall, Director of Distribution, War Food Administration. "In addition to this," he said, "they get a share of the ice cream, the turkey, the soft drinks, the candy bars—in fact the biggest amount of home we can crowd into a barracks, a foxhole or a PX." To make this possible, American agricultural production has been increased roughly 40 per cent over pre-war levels, he pointed out.

New Shoe Stamp Coming
A new shoe stamp to become good November 1 was announced by the Office of Price Administration. The number of the shoe stamp will be announced later.

Plan Living War Memorial
A living war memorial—a community in which invalid and disabled soldiers may live with their families—has been proposed for Scotland by an ex-servicemen's organization and will be built as soon as the endowment is complete and a building site is found, the British information services report. Blocks of homes will be grouped around a cloister in which will be a clinic staffed and equipped to give hospital treatment and medical aid. Covered corridors will lead to each group of apartments so that patients can be taken for treatment in any weather. The community will be complete in itself but will be built probably near Edinburgh—near shops, schools, churches, places of entertainment and centers of employment. Each tenant will pay what-ever rent he can afford from his disability pension.

Saves Trainload Of Prisoners
When the Nazis recently tried to ship back to Germany a trainload of persons of various nationalities who had been imprisoned in Belgium for underground activities, they were thwarted by the delaying tactics of the Belgian railroad engineer, who acted upon instructions from the Belgian underground. With prisoners packed in cattle cars so thickly it was impossible for anyone to sit down, the train started. Using various ruses, the engineer managed to go only 15 miles in 24 hours, despite threats of Gestapo men with machine guns who stood at his side. Finally the train stopped and the German authorities decided it was better to let everyone go free rather than trouble with them any further.

"Like Chased Animals"
With the beginning of the Nazi collapse in France, the Germans, busy trying to save their own necks, turned their Dutch laborers loose, according to a correspondent for Anet, official Netherlands news agency. He said that these men "like chased animals, afraid that the hunt is not over . . . introduce themselves often under assumed names, and as they recount their experiences under the Nazis, they look around, shifty-eyed, as if to make sure that no Gestapo agent is listening." All are hungry for news of their relatives. "They are eager for someone, anyone, to point out a destination in life for them after their years of being tossed about Europe."
