Thirty Brownie Scouts with their leader, Mrs. Leo Gildemester, and assistant, Mrs. John Nickerson, went to the home of Mrs. Clyde Reed for a winter roast Friday afternoon. EMERGENCY!

CALLING TRUCK 23
 CALLING TRUCK 23"

5:01 P.M.
 One day, at 5:01 p. m., a tool and die company producing equipment for B-29's sent an urgent call to the Edison Company reporting that its electric power was off and vital war production halted.

5:02 P.M.
 In one minute a Detroit Edison trouble dispatcher had contacted the emergency crew of truck 23—at that time in the vicinity of the crippled plant—by short wave radio over our Station WQJL.

5:03 P.M.
 Truck 23—responding to the call of its short wave receiver—was speeding on its way toward the trouble even before the dispatcher finished giving complete details.

5:09 P.M.
 In six more minutes the skilled overhead lines crew of truck 23 was at work repairing the break in the system, so that war production could resume.

5:40 P.M.
 Just 39 minutes after Detroit Edison received the emergency call, power was restored and vital war work was moving again.

We are not always able to equal this record for speed. But by means of two-way FM (Frequency Modulation) radio, 49 Edison cars and trucks are always in touch with our central trouble switchboard, permitting emergency crews to be dispatched speedily to the scenes of major emergencies. We are constantly seeking new ways to improve our operation and give better service to our customers.
