GHOST SHIP — Nora Burglon. If you have ever lived near the sea-coast, you will know just how exciting and startling Sverre and Ingrid, the two Norwegian children in this story, were when they saw a "ghost ship" riding the waters in phosphorescent flame, not long after their father's boat was wrecked. When all sorts of evil dolms followed on the heels of the "ghost ship"—nets stolen, far pellets spirited away—Sverre and Ingrid were eager to solve the mystery. But they were busy too, helping their mother, rescuing a beloved old horse from starvation, and fending the machinations of Ulf, the village "bad boy." And out of it all came the secret of the "ghost ship" and much good fortune for Sverre and Ingrid.

This well-told and human tale by the author of "Children of the Soil" will carry to its readers all the flavor of life in Norway, lead them to share with these children of the sea all the excitement they experience in welcoming their beloved King to the village, in fashioning their own Christmas celebration, in exploring a mysterious island. Sverre and Ingrid are as genuine, as unforgettable as Hans Brinker and Heidi.

CONDUCT YOURSELF ACCORDINGLY — Margaret Oulka Banning. Good manners, as Mrs. Banning rightly sees them, are far more than the trivialities of popular etiquette books. They are essentially an awareness of the rights of one's fellow man regardless of nationality, creed and social or economic position. Good conduct is "self-discipline, restraint and consideration for others"—a far more positive thing than the

Pumpkin Tarts A Holiday Treat

Press dough firmly into fluting of tart tins, as shown above, then prick with fork.

Golden, dainty little Pumpkin Tarts are a modernized version of traditional pumpkin pie. The cooked and strained pumpkin is combined with hot and dark syrup to make an unusually fine tart filling. These Pumpkin Tarts may be made a day in advance, and the pastry will not become soggy.

Here are a few pointers on making tart shells (using your usual pie crust recipe):

1. Never roll all of the pastry dough at one time for tart shells. Break off pieces just large enough for one tart shell and roll each one out individually.

2. Fit dough into tart tins carefully, leaving the sides loose and pressing it in from the center of the bottom out, to make sure you do not enclose any air bubbles.

3. Turn the edges of the dough under to form a double rim. If it is not fluted, press dough firmly into each flute.

mere avoidance of gaucheries. It is a problem of special importance for the years of readjustment that will follow this war, for this time we must strain to avoid the dangers of inevitable let-down, of the loose-living and jazz years of the 'twenties.

It is Mrs. Banning's belief that "conduct may be as important as the provisions of peace" in the world ahead. It is a subject that must be understood. In this book she takes pains to pave the way towards that understanding. It is her contention that conduct should be the expression of a way of life and, in this, Americans have not followed through. We fall short in recognition of the rights, the needs, and the feelings of others. We are quickly cordial and as quickly bored. We are intolerant of what we term "dumbness" and too often decry customs that are different from our own. Good inheritance and training are not enough; manners must derive from a feeling for our fellow men that can and must be acquired. Written with common sense, kindness, humor and an eye to the overall picture, Mrs. Banning's book is a valuable and important one.

Norman Hunt, former captain of the Farmington High School football team and brother of John Hunt of Oakland Road, has successfully finished his training courses at the University of Illinois, under the Navy training program and has left for overseas duty.

GIRL SCOUT COLUMN

Girl Scouts of Troop Five, with their leaders, Miss Allison and Miss Abbott, enjoyed a horseback ride on Saturday. It was the first time many of the girls had participated in the sport, and although they came back with sore muscles, all had a good time.

Brownie Troop Four under the leadership of Mrs. Leo Gildemester, will have a Fly-Up ceremony on Friday afternoon, November 17, at 3:30 p.m. at the kindergarten room in the school. Those girls who will "fly up" will become members of Intermediate Troop 7, under the leadership of Miss Lockman. Mothers of the girls are urged to attend this ceremony.

PRETTY WEDDING
HELD AT MACCABEE HALL

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Friday evening at the Macabee Hall in Clarensville, when the Rev. A. Stanley Stone, of the Farmington Methodist Church united in marriage June Ardis Jewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jewett of Farmington and Clarence William Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bailey of Keego Harbor.

Mrs. Phyllis Fleming, sister of the groom, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Smith of Keego Harbor.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white tulle and net. She wore a finger tip veil of white net, held in place with a tiara of white satin flowers, and carried a spray of white roses.

Evelyn Jewett, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and wore a blue tulle gown with a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. Patricia Hix of Detroit, cousin of the bride, and Theresa Coss of Farmington were the bridesmaids. Patricia wore a yellow gown and a corsage of yellow mums, while Theresa wore a gown of pink and a corsage of orchid mums.

Gerald Riley of Redford attended the groom as best man. Jim Craig of Farmington and Richard Hix of Detroit were the ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at which about a hundred guests were present.

Following the reception the newlyweds went to their home at 132 W. New York Street, Pontiac. They will be at home to their friends at this address after November 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Jensen were called to Vermontville by the death of their niece, Mrs. Robert Lally. They were accompanied by Forrest Haft and Mrs. Oleta Miksa and son. All were over-high guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rogers in Lansing Sunday night, and continued on to Vermontville for the funeral on Monday.
