Sleeping Garments
Cool, abbreviated sleeping garments can be made from old, worn cotton nightgowns or pajamas. Cut to knee-length with armholes slashed deep, they are comfortable enough to woe restless slumber on humid nights when even a sheet seems too much covering. The busy homemaker can take added summer comfort from the thought that these brief nightclothes may be changed often without adding much to the weekly wash. They take up little room in the tub or washing machine and can be washed and ironed in double quick time. Clean, smooth, airy "shorties" make hot nights more endurable.

BAND BITS

By BETTY

Alas! the marching season is over and of course some of the Seniors are feeling quite badly because last Friday was their last day to march with the band for any football games. The band has done itself proud this year and has marched for all the home games. Sunday, November 12th the band went down to Briggs Stadium and marched with a number of other bands. It is believed by all that Farmington is toiling the mark in music as well as athletics.

New music has been issued the band for its Concert season which is now opening. The members have in mind a number of ideas that will help raise money for new uniforms which are badly needed. The whole band is hoping everyone will help in the crusade.

Did you hear about Dutch Doll and his flannella? Bright, weren't they? Red becomes him very well. He said that he didn't mind bouncing, but it was a little too realistic.

The band has selected a motto and also a goal. The motto is: Practices Makes Perfect. The goal is: Be the best band of the class "B" schools. The merit system is getting along fine and everyone is profiting by it.

Every day before band the Band Home sounds like a jam session. A majority of the kids give out with a little rhythm just to warm up on the various marches. Sure sounds swell and even if you do hear a few sour notes once in a while it's all in fun.

Mrs. Charles Thornton and daughter, Nancy, of Trenton, spent the past week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore.
