Around The Block

JUST ABOUT PERFECT . JUST ABOUT PERFECT... is the way we would describe the Christmas tree at the City Hall. The tree was doisated by Walter Coon, and it is al perfectly lovely tree. It is gailty decorated and shines radiantly forth during the quiet hours of early evening. If you've not seen it just stop in the next time you happen to be in town, for it is well worth your time, and many thanks, Mr. Coon, for such a lovely addition to the city's Christmas. rity's Christmas.

THE CHURCHES... of Farmington have planned some lovely events for the Christmas season this year. Won't you plan to attend some of these services, at the charch of your choice?
You'll miss the true spirit of the Christmas scason if you fail to do so.

OUR COMPLIMENTS ...

OUR COMPLIMENTS... to Lloyd Smith, band director at Farmington High School, for the excellent work that has been accomplished with the band since he came to the schools this past summer. To those who heard the second band play at the P.T.A. meeting Tuesday evening, this bit of praise will make uncofnmon good sense, and to those of you who haven't heard the band play recently — avail yourselves of the entry opportunity and you'll see, next opportunity and you'll see what we mean. The bands are what we ----really good!

Early Pledges Are Big Help

Contributions for the new Me morial Home are continuing to to members of the Memorial Home of the American Legion.

of the American Legion.

As people of the community already know, the Post proposes to raise funds approximating $20,000. With this money in addition to the $10,000 which the Post has accumulated, and which they have placed in a Memorial Home Fund, it will be acceptable. it will be possible to erect the new Home, entirely free of any outstanding indebtedness.

outstanding indebtedness. While the Memorial Home is primarily designed to serve the men and women returning home after this war is over. It will also serve the entire community, for the building will make an ideal place for organizations to hold meetings and social affairs.

will determine the utilimate success of the campaign.

The Association is now distributing letters which olearly point out the need for the Memorial Home, and outline the means for financing and operating. At the bottom of these letters appears a subscription biank which you may fill out and return, with your donation, to any member of the Post, or to Joseph DeViendt, chairman of the building committee, Clarence Barber, post commander, or to Howard C. Knickerbecker at the Farmington State Bank. The more subscriptions that are turned in without further solicitation, the sooner the drive will successfully end, for the fewer personal calls will have to be made.

Your donation to the Memorial

Your donation to the Memorial your donation to the Memorial Home will serve as a living me-morial to the boys from this com-munity who have paid with their Ufe, during this great world strug-gle. What finer tribute could you pay?
