

Roaches Like to Hide

To combat the roach we must know something of its habits. They are nocturnal and go into hiding during the daylight hours. They prefer to hide in quiet, darkened and sheltered places. They hide near sinks, drainboards, behind wall cabinets, under loose door and window trim, cracks and holes in the walls, along water and steam pipes, beneath flooring, in wall spaces and in dark food storage rooms and bins. Knowing the hiding places of these pests, a permanent method of control is obtained by eliminating these hiding places by sealing the openings.

Catching Young Pigs

A hoop and net makes a handy device for catching small pigs up to 50 pounds in weight. Take a piece of three-eighths-inch round iron, three feet or a little longer, heat and bend into a hoop, allowing about four inches of each end to project for insertion into a shovel handle with a heavy ferrule.

Bonneville Dam Project
Bonneville dam controls the water of the Columbia river for generation of power and improvement of navigation facilities. The highest single-lift lock in the world permits ocean-going vessels to travel upstream as far as The Dalles, Ore., 187 miles from the Pacific ocean. The army engineers, who constructed and operate Bonneville dam, also made provisions to perpetuate the Columbia river's famous salmon runs. Scientifically designed fish ladders provide easy passage over the dam to spawning grounds on the upper river and its tributaries.

Harmless Fake Cobra
The flat headed adder of the south tries to frighten assailants by puffing its neck out like a cobra.

Aged-In Sealed-In Flavor

The Altes Way Is Nature's Way

Nature puts a shell around a walnut to keep flavor in... air and everything harmful out. For the same reason Altes uses closed, instead of the ordinary open vats. Under this protective seal Altes Lager, like the walnut, ages in flavor and ripens to the full perfection of its exclusive Aged-In Sealed-In Flavor. No other beer can offer you so much.
