Happy Birthday Comrades
Donald J. Heuser, Sept. 2.
Orville Robertson, Sept. 3.
Herbert D. Hill, Sept. 4.
Terence McKelvey, Sept. 14
Wm. L. Bryant, Sept. 16
Robert H. Paul, Sept. 22
Norman C. Lee, Sept. 24
Myron J. Carrier, Sept. 26
James Franzini, Jr., Sept. 30.
Leonard F. Kink, August 30.

It is most interesting to note that it has been officially announced that one of our comrades is about to have the knot tied — you know, the matrimonial one. Three cheers to James Edgar Tolman, 20815 12 Mile Road, and his bride to be, Mary Lavine Tamm of Lakeway Drive. Yes, Ed, if you don't come to the meeting on September 5th we wish to have you come after. You're a wish from all of us that you both live happily ever after.

Comrades, the Auxiliary closed their charter August 27th last Monday, and we know it won't be long before their ranks will outnumber ours. We can help and know that our efforts will be paid back with great interest as the Auxiliary is our greatest asset. So let's all join in and help increase their ranks.

Myron Carrier of 30870 Eighth Mile Road, our Comrade Captain when the new part was chartered, is back with us again. Comrade Carrier was on an important war job which kept him away from us. He is back in the building business again and we welcome him back as active.

Many of the boys are coming home. Many are members of the local F.V.W. Post 4033. Wives, mothers and fathers of returning overseas veterans, those that really went over and won the war, are in touch with one of the local members so that we know he is here. Tell him to come to the next meeting and join his comrades.

The next meeting will be September 5 at the Town Hall, at 8:00 p.m.

Obituary

Edward J. Ashby
 Edward John Ashby died August 21, in Windsor, Ontario, Canada, where he had been making his home.

Surviving Mr. Ashby are four sons, Everett, Neil, Kenneth and William, all of Clarenceville.

CLARENCEVILLE

By Mrs. Axel Rutila

The Clarenceville School Mothers Club held a successful meeting at the home of Mrs. McWhirter of Lathers Avenue on Wednesday, August 22. The club asks their friends to remember that date and place of the fashion show which will be held Friday, September 14 at 7:00 p.m. at the High School. There will be gifts, refreshments, movies and a special gift of a beautiful dress, the winner's choice. Please do not bring children under 12 years of age. The Club will meet again on Wednesday, September 5, at 7:00 p.m. at the Wilcox home on Annapolis Road. All members are asked to be there and visitors are welcome at all meetings.

A shower honoring a new bride, Mrs. Frank Brandelhi, Jr., the former Lorraine Evans, was given by Mrs. Satterfield at the Evans home on Lathers Avenue last Saturday. Lorraine was greeted by her former classmates and many friends, and received many lovely gifts. She is spending a few weeks with her parents, but is expecting her husband, who is now in the Marines, to be home soon, declared from service. Our best wishes to you both, Lorraine and Frank.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schultz of Lakewood Road are expecting their son home for ten days, at the completion of boot training. He is now at Sampson, New York.

Mrs. Kennedy of Antazo Avenue spent a few days last week at Baltimore, with her husband, Glenn, who is in the Merchant Marines.

Glen Myers of Norfolk Avenue is now home, and out of the Army. His wife, Pat, of the Waves, is spending a week's leave with him at the Myers home this week. Also, his sailor brother, Kenney, was home on 72-hour pass. Another brother, Ed, who was in the Navy, is in the Chinese area, writes that he is now with an Engineer Battalion in the Philippine Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stevens of St. Francis spent a happy week visiting with their daughter, Mrs. John Kaufmann, who lives near Cayuga Park, Ohio. Week and a half at the Kaufmann home were her sisters, Annemarie, Cpl. Felice, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Davis of Detroit, with daughter, Joan. This reunion came as the happy climax of the vacation.

Cpl. Burton Troutman has suffered a broken ankle, falling while climbing from a plane at camp at Warrensburg, Missouri. His foot is out of a cast, after two weeks, and is now mending nicely.

Residue Removal Helps Control Corn Borer

The European corn borer develops into the flying and egg-laying moth stage late in the spring or early in the summer from borers that have passed the winter in the stalks and stubble of corn, and other coarse-stemmed crops and weeds. In order to prevent serious increases of this pest, entomologists of the USDA's research administration say that all residues of these crops and weeds, especially corn, should be completely destroyed.

In 1944, despite light infestation in the eastern part of the infected region, due primarily to drought conditions, the European corn borer caused a corn crop loss of over $22,000,000. Under favorable weather conditions, each female moth will lay an average of 400 eggs—and sometimes as many as 1,900—which hatch in four to nine days.

Infested cornstalks are removed in three ways: by feeding to livestock; by deep and clean plowing; and by complete burning. In the eastern states areas the corn borer attacks—in addition to corn—a great variety of vegetables, field crops, flowers, large-stemmed weeds and grasses. In these areas, remnants of these plants must be included in farm disposal or clean-up operations. In the lake states areas the borer borers mostly in corn. In most of the infested states there are two broods of the borer per year, and in the southernmost of these there may be three broods. The insect begins its activities earlier in the season in the most southern and eastern states and continues there later than it does in the lake states.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Walled Lake, Michigan

"The Conquering Church" will be the sermon subject of Richard Nyberg, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Walled Lake, Sunday at 10 a.m. John Amaranthides, concert violinist from Detroit, president of Detroit Fiddlers Band, will play. The vested choir will sing.

A Gospel Team from Northville will have charge of the Youth Fellowship meeting at 7 p.m. The Happy Hour Service at 8:00 p.m. will be in charge of the young people leaving for college. Misses Betty Swartz and Eleanor Wilson will sing.
