War Clouds Darken Because of the Differences Between France and Great Britain Over the Fashoda Matter—Both are Preparing for Trouble.

Never since Great Britain and France began to dispute over Egypt, years ago, nor during the most recent stages of the numerous Niger differences between the two countries has the situation looked so ominous as it now does over the Fashoda incident. It is a fact that the French and British military authorities are making feverish preparations for war, and significant orders have been issued from the British admiralty, indicating the belief that Great Britain is in a position to meet the French navy.

CRISIS IN FRANCE.

The Cabinet Resigns and Mobs Almost Create a Second Reign of Terror. The assembling of the French chamber of deputies, and the renewal of the Dreyfus agitation as a consequence, was the occasion of very serious rioting in Paris. The anti-Semitic feeling was shown in violent attacks upon Jews in the streets, and mobs of republicans and royalists had several pitched battles in which scores were seriously injured. The police arrested over 200 rioters.

At the opening session of the chamber of deputies M. Heroult made a violent attack upon the minister of war, Gen. Chamere, who after vigorously defending his doings, tendered his resignation and quitted the tribunal. M. de Maity offered a resolution calling on the government to end the campaign of insult against the army. This followed a desecrable scene of tumult in which there were several personal encounters. The premier, M. Brisson, refused to accept the resolution, and confidence in the government was rejected, 244 to 234. The Brisson ministry then resigned.

ODDITIES OF POISONING.

Much for Earthly Happiness Depends Upon What We Eat. The recreational interests and peculiarities which exist among individuals should always be carefully watched and controlled. One person cannot poison by eating anything which another is pleased to eat only in the vicinity of the victim and without contact. Some members of a family residing in a marital building will eat regularly with their families, while other members will not be affected.

Food that is actually poisonous to some persons will not act on others. One person may eat all kinds of green food and vegetables with impunity, while another person could die as easily at the risk of life. Certain kinds of fish are actually poisonous to some people and perfectly wholesome to others.

It is the peculiar condition of the system which constitutes the danger point in the individual case and should be prudently observed by each one for himself. Important changes frequently arise from and are caused by certain kinds of food. Thus a person affected with kidney or liver trouble should not eat very white food, while the extreme whiteness is often produced by the use of albumen, such as white of egg, cream, and milk.

More of earthly happiness depends upon what we eat than many people realize and it is for this reason that the different cases are one by one passing rapidly into the hands of the physician. The physician is the one who is the most successful in the treatment of these cases.

Col. Waring Dead. Col. Geo. E. Waring, Jr., of New York City, died at his home from a low fever. He was a distinguished soldier and a successful business man. He was born in New York City and served in the Civil War.

Philadelphians Rejoice. The return of peace was joyfully celebrated at Philadelphia, the opening feature being a grand naval parade, in which several of the vessels most famous in the world were participated. This followed a splendid military procession, a civic parade, and many other distinguished features.

May Try to Restore a French Monarchy. Prince Louis Napoleon, who was supposed to have rejoined his regiment in Russia, is ready at Geneva, where he has raised on special security, a band of such dimensions as excludes the hypothesis of its being required for private purposes. Prince Louis has long been a candidate for the Bonapartists for the French throne.
