recent innovations in the form of low-eniment in Japan. The rosts import-ant charge was proposed in the elec-tion bill, which was too heavily bur-dened with amendment to reach de-cisive action in the late diet. Thi-bill, by reducing the amount of the property qualifications, increases the Lamber of electors from denton to 2 9 (6),000, and the Lumber of representa-tives from 300 to 440. Hitherto, under the scheme of popular representation, 9 there has been but, one member of the lower house for 240,000 inhabitions and this ratio has not been deemet-sufficiently representative.
