WOMEN ENJOY ANNUAL GARDEN CLUB PARTY

What kind of weather it was in Farmington last Saturday afternoon depended completely upon where you happened to be. Almost everywhere it was a late spring day — rain, mud and fog — but in Farmington Town Hall summer had arrived.

You could tell by the bloom on the plants and flower boxes, by the very beautiful trees and shrubs. You could see it in the dresses and flowered hats gathered around the card tables — and when you reached the tea table, you just knew it was summer. A long red checked cloth, a garden hat filled with red and purple tulips and lilacs, the small white and blue and a pair of garden gloves casually laid on the table, just as if the hostesses had just come in from garden work — summertime, to be sure.

The gay atmosphere and easy functioning of the drawing for door prizes were the result of careful planning by the party chairman, Mrs. Ray Eichler. She in turn, credits her capable committee members, Mrs. Lancaster, Mrs. Austin Grant, Mrs. Charles James and Mrs. George Newlin. It was the greenhouses, nurseries, hardware and lumber concerns that were generous with their stock.

Mrs. Louys and Mrs. Haskins presented a delightful style show with five charming models. Miss June Toth played several selections on the piano.

It was Mrs. Clarence Johnson who so artistically wrapped the flowering table prize plants in colorful foil and ribbons; Mrs. Arthur Lamb who brought the purple and pink tulips — she always brings floral displays to the Garden Club parties; it was the many other club women who made sandwiches and who were hostesses. And it was the good ladies of Farmington who, each year, come to the Garden Club party.

All in all, it was Farmington's party — and Farmington seemed to thoroughly enjoy it.
