William Owen, of the Detroit police force, has moved his family to a garage home near that of his parents on Mayfield Avenue. Mr. Owen is another veteran to become a victim of the housing shortage.

Arthur Block, who, for some time has been patient in the Walter Reed Army Hospital, Washington, D.C., has received his discharge and arrived in Detroit by plane last Tuesday morning. He and his wife, the former Jean Adams, whom he married last January, will, for the present, reside with Mrs. Block's parents on Shady Side Ave.

Tom Harrison, who was in our armed forces overseas for some time, is now discharged, and, with his wife and child, living at the home of his parents, on Eight Mile Road.

A stray shot from a .22 in the hands of a sixteen year old youth narrowly missed Mrs. John Varhol's head as she stood in her yard a week ago. It was thought this situation regarding careless use of firearms had ceased up, but apparently someone must be killed or suffer serious injury before the business is actually stopped.

Mrs. J. Tallman was hostess to a "Bush Demonstration Party" Friday afternoon. Several of her neighborhood friends were in attendance. After the usual display of merchandise, bingo was a relaxation. Some was useful.

The business served a delicious lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rehahn visited relatives in Garden City on Sunday evening.

William Griffith, a talented singer from Detroit, rendered a most appreciated musical program at the Neighborhood Church Sunday evening. Certain hymns were sung in the Welch tongue, which made an interesting variation to the performance. Mr. Griffith has promised to be out again before too long.

An unusually interesting meeting of the Sunshine Sisters was held in the Neighborhood Church Wednesday afternoon, July 1st. The topic was "Home" and practically every woman present contributed to the program. Mrs. John Varhol gave a reading entitled "The Diary of a Baby." Others read clippings or stories illustrating points to be considered in the discussion. Afterwards each described the home which, in memory, stood out as, to her, most remarkable. Each also named some quality which in her opinion, would make for greatest happiness in the home. The result was, in view of modern tendencies, quite surprising. There seemed to be a unanimous opinion that American housewives should practice firmer religious habits, including stricter Sabbath keeping and insist on honor and obedience from children to parents, as all tending to develop the Christian charity and mutual understanding necessary for the maintenance of true happiness in the home.

The Sunshine Sisters agreed to sponsor a Mother and Son meeting to be held in the Neighborhood Church, Monday evening, August 19. A potluck supper is to be held in connection with the affair.

The next Sunshine meeting will be held in the Neighborhood Church Wednesday afternoon, August 14th. It is August 14th in Victory Day this meeting will become a victory celebration and all in the neighborhood are invited to participate in it.
