CALIFORNIA GIRL MARRIED TO W. P. DWYER JR.

At a ten o'clock high mass in Our Lady of Sorrows Church on Saturday, September 21, Mary Theresa O'Connor, daughter of Mrs. Hannah O'Connor of Los Angeles, California, became the bride of William Patrick Dwyer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dwyer, Jr., 31900 Arlington Drive, Farmington, Mich.

The Rev. Fr. Thomas Beahan performed the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin. It was fashioned with a close fitting bodice, trimmed with a yoke of silk net, which was outlined with a bertha of the satin. The full gathered skirt was finished with a semi-train. She wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion with a coronet of pearls. She carried a white prayer book, covered with white carnations with white ribbon streamers and orange blossoms.

Mrs. Johanna Urean of Detroit was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of royal blue crepe and carried an arm bouquet of bronze baby mums, and peach gladiolus, and wore a headress of the same flowers.

Leon Gardner, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Tony Dwyer, Bob Dwyer and Jack Kelly served as ushers.

Mrs. Joseph Schaefer presided at the organ and Mr. Joseph Schaefer sang three beautiful numbers. After the ceremony a breakfast was served at Botsford-Taverna and a reception was held in the evening at the Dwyer home on Arlington Drive. Many relatives and friends from out-of-state and surrounding communities attended the wedding and reception.

The happy couple departed Saturday night for a trip through northern Michigan.

Mrs. Albert Bolitho and Mrs. Ralph Anderson of Seminole met with Detroit friends for luncheon last Thursday.

A FURNACE CHECK NOW MAY SAVE YOUR HOME LATER

Thousands of homes are burned every year because of defective or improperly installed heating plants and many tons of fuel are wasted by improper operation and incorrect adjustments. Now is the time, before the heating season gets in full swing, to make sure your furnace is ready for fire, says Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college.

Checking the furnace to make sure it is ready for another winter means looking at the grates to see if they are in good condition. If it is a hot-air furnace, check the draft for leaks. This can be done by building a small fire of papers in the furnace, closing the damper in the smoke pipe leading to the chimney and then checking the registers upstairs for the odor of burning papers. If the paper smoke is noticeable, the fireproof requires attention.

In addition to cleaning out the ashpit, the furnace flues, and the smokepipe, the chimney should be cleaned, as the accumulated soot is both a fire and explosion hazard. The smoke pipe itself should be checked thoroughly to make sure that rusting during the summer spots in the pipe. Such defects can be detected by firm hand pressure on the outside of the pipe. Dangerously thin spots will collapse inward under even moderately firm pressure. Replace any smoke pipes in questionable condition, making sure that all joints are tight and that the pipe fits tightly into the chimney.

Check operation of the controls and make sure they are properly adjusted. Refer to the instructions which came with the equipment, or consult a furnace repairman or installer for information.

Any boxes, rubbish, or papers that may be placed near the furnace during the summer months should be cleared away before starting the fire.

The same precautions also apply to coal stoves, oil stoves and gas heaters used to heat individual rooms or portions of a house. These heaters should be located at a safe distance from woodwork, and should be connected to a chimney to remove the gases of burning.

REPORTERS SWAMP WALLACE

Henry A. Wallace was swamped by reporters who fired questions at him from all sides, following his resignation as Secretary of Commerce. Wallace was asked for his resignation by President Truman, after the uproar that was created by the remarks he made during the United States' foreign policy in a recent political address.

Men's Club IS FORMED TO SERVE COMMUNITY

At a dinner held Monday, September 23, a Men's Club was formed by the men of the First Methodist Church in Farmington. The purpose of the club is to further the interests of the church and to render real service to the community.

At the next meeting, the time of which will be announced shortly, plans will be presented, discussed and decided upon as to just what activities the club will engage in.

Any men wishing to become a part of this group are urged to attend, offer their suggestions and enjoy the activities of this new service organization.

For any further information you may easily contact Houghton Stuckey, Henry Trombley or Henry Mahoney.

Called To Grand Rapids By Father's Death

Police Chief Joseph DeVriendt was called to Grand Rapids this week by the death of his father, Leonard DeVriendt, 88. He had not been well for some time, and the Joseph DeVriendts and Fred Schaepeters had been to visit him on Sunday, the day before he passed away.

Mr. DeVriendt leaves his wife, five sons, one daughter and two sisters.

Burial took place Thursday morning from St. James Church in Grand Rapids.

MRS. MAXWELL TO OPEN DANCING SCHOOL

Something new has been added to Farmington as indicated by the recently announced opening of a children's elementary dance and ballet school by Mrs. Gordon Maxwell of 31904 Grand River Avenue.

Mrs. Maxwell, the mother of a nine year old Farmington school child, and a former student of ballet and modern dance, believes that four year olds, up to fourteen, can be trained in elementary dance and ballet, combining health exercises so that the following school years will be benefited through advantages of poise, health measures and courtesy training.

Also, as Mrs. Maxwell states, mothers like herself will appreciate the respite of what to do with the young ones when mother may prevail on Saturday afternoons, at which time she plans a one-hour school period for the children.

The Maxwell School is to be located in the Farmington Town Hall, and reservations for the fall and winter semester are being taken now.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Farrand, they wish to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willobee and family at South Haven, planning to leave there Thursday for Florida, where they will spend the winter at their home at Clearwater.
