MORE RIOTING AT "CIO BATTLEGROUND"

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — Soundphoto — A picket is carried away face down by policemen who placed the picket under arrest during the recent rioting at the strikebound All-Chalmers plant in West Allis. 400 police and sheriff's deputies battled flying wedges formed by pickets who attacked non-striking workers as they left the plant. This strike has been in force for the past six months.

The wives of members of the Kiwanis Club were guests at last Wednesday's meeting of the Club. A delicious turkey dinner was served.

Gene Ross, program chairman for the evening, presented a most entertaining musical program. The Kiwanis Club's own quartet, composed of Lloyd Smith, Ivar Anderson, Jim Warner and Leo Glide master rendered several selections, and Lloyd presented a brass quartet from the high school band.

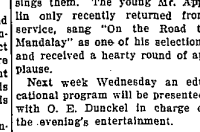

Special guests of the evening were Arthur Appin and his son of Detroit, both of whom sang two solos. Mr. Appin, it will be remembered, was formerly director of the Methodist Church choir, here in Farmington, and he still has a host of friends here.

He sang "The Basso Proandro" and "The Big Bass Viol," always particularly enjoyed when Mr. Appin sings them. The young Mr. Appin only recently returned from service, sang "On the Road to Mandalay" as one of his selections and received a hearty round of applause.

Next week Wednesday an educational program will be presented, with O. E. Dunchel in charge of the evening's entertainment.
