PRESIDENTIAL BEE
HUMS IN CAPITOL DOME Washington withdraws from official activity for the holidays without getting any real impact of the advent of the new regime. There has been the preliminary hurlyburly of reorganization on Capitol Hill but the same old faces are evident and the same old rolees apeak. The active Republican leaders in both houses of congress have been so much in the limelight for the last year, anyhow that they merely appear to be stepping up, rather than stepping in. It all seems quite routine and causal.

There is just a touch of the excitement of the beginning of a new era when house and senate actering committees had their first meetings and made their first official statements concerning the first meetings and made their first official statements concerning the figure had been foreshadowed and the change of venue was not fagfared.

The last 14 years make up the er's exit.

The Democrats had only a short interlude at the pie-counter between Taft and Harding and their return in 1933 came in the midst of such a domestic crisis, with the mad days of the NRA following on the heels of the bank holiday, that our attention was diverted from politics. But what the Democrats did to the Republican officeholders "wasn't good," as one Republican util trecently. He added: "We are going to do the same for them."

will be, sufficient amounts of these tens to satisfy more than a relatively small part of the volerans' demand. Veterans are served from what is available in the order in which they have been certified.

"You have entitled also to:
"Priority, subordinate only to that of Federal agencies for their own use, to buy any other surplins property for use in your own business, professional or agricultural enterpase (including an initial atock for reasele,) or for a use directly lequired by your employment."] Congress begins with the Republican Presidential plum within easier reach than any which have dan ier reach than any which have dangled in many a year and it is no wonder many hands are reaching hopefully for it. In fact, Senator Vandenberg early sounded the warning that more thoughts should be concentrated on the responsibilities following the victory of '46, and less on the possibilities of '48, for the good of all concerned.

The battle between the Taftites

for the good of all concerned.

The battle between the Tattite and the anti-Tattites began ever before election and the Ohio sens tor himself is so determined that this time he will win the nomina
