THE BLUE AND WHITE

SURVEY MADE BY QUILL AND SCROLL

With the thought of midwinter initiation, Quill and Scroll follows a review the chapter membership with appraising eyes. At present, last year's members are either working, going to college or planning to attend later. Some plan to continue in newspaper work.

Journalism is President Bill Connor's interest at Michigan State college; Harold Turner, editor-in-chief of the 1946 Finale, enrolled at Michigan State Normal College, Ypsilanti, where he is majoring in Journalism; Margaret Hatch, secretary, hopes to be a Journalism major at the University of Michigan next fall. Another girl who plans to go to the University is Margaret Wedin, vice-president, and editor-in-chief of the Falcon. Enrolled at the University of Michigan is Alvin Garchow, who some day will be a mortician (of all things).

Planning to go to Michigan State next fall, is Betty Hunt, who at present is working for Demery's; already enrolled at Michigan State is Milton Heywood, who is studying engineering.

Because of illness Mary June Eberole was forced to leave Albion, however, she plans to enter a larger college in the fall. While at Albion, she became a member of the Albion Players and took an important part in two plays. Continuing on at Albion is Marjorie Schroeder, who is majoring in Social Service.

Formerly of Montgomery Ward's advertising department is Naomi Cox, who is now living in Louisiana, where she may attend school. Naomi was managing editor of the Blue and White for 1945-1946.

Now living in Camden, Michigan, is Charlotte Rhoads, who is managing editor of her school paper there and president of the senior class.

THROUGH THE GRADES

Youngsters in grades two through six are being given achievement tests covering reading, language and math. The purpose of the tests is to aid the teachers in finding the weak and strong points of the students and in planning desired remedial work.

Under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Buell, a safety patrol has been organized. Don Quins is the captain of the squad.

The second graders are making a study of birds. They have placed feeding trays on the window sills to invite the birds close to their room. In connection with this study, they are discussing the weather, thermometers and related subjects.

New School Addition Under Construction

Because of the crowded conditions around school an addition has been made to the gym. The building will contain four class rooms and will be heated by the same heating plant as the gym. When the new buildings will be ready for use, no one can tell exactly.

"Old Man Winter" is holding up the construction, and it's up to him when the building will be finished.

NEXT?

Monday morning finds a percentage of the students of Farmington High either dragging one leg or carrying an arm in a sling. Yes! winter is here and tobogganing parties are in full swing.

Parker Hill is taking its toll in casualties, for one of Farmington's vets broke his wrist (aided by one of the senior girls).

It seems the main diet for the parties consists of chili, hot chocolate and cake.

Even though the students are bored up a bit, they go back for more.

Board Of Education Sponsors Dance

Christmas vacation was high lighted by the New Year's Eve dance, sponsored by the Farmington Board of Education, in the F.H.S. gymnasium from 9 to 11 o'clock.

Bill Conroy and his orchestra supplied the music.

The gym was decorated with evergreens. A large Christmas tree was the center piece.

Refreshments were sold in the cafeteria.
