SAN MATEO, CALIF. — SOUNDPHOTO — 13 year-old Jimmie Kennedy of San Mateo gets along in life very nicely in spite of the fact that he has not had any arms since birth. He turns the pages of his books, tunes the radio (left), and even writes with pen or pencil (right) well enough to keep right up with his eighth grade classmates at Saint Matthews School. Handicapped only by his inability to balance himself, a fact which prevents him from playing ball, Jimmie can nonetheless attend parties and dance with the girls. They just put their hands on his hips. A southpaw, he uses his left foot for writing.
