OUR INVITATION
I love to come to this still place,
Where deeper peace is always found,
To kneel as though on holy ground,
And feel my Master face to face,
I do not know how I could live
If there were not this refuge given.
Where I could linger at His feet
And He to me sweet healing give.

Export-Import Regulations Vital For Curing World Ills

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON. The sudden decision upon Columbia's shoulders of the man in the White House has forced the President to add all sorts of odd jobs to his other duties. It is impossible to estimate the "destruction" in terms of what has happened to social and political values.

As to point two, that becomes a concrete issue which ought to be in debate before these lines are printed: namely, the question of extending certain wartime controls over exports and imports.

Briefly, if export controls go off, foreign nations can bid against each other for food. Wheat, for example, that will send the price of wheat skyrocketing. What does that mean? In the first place it means the country with the most money gets the most wheat, regardless of need. Others go hungry. It means the American taxpayer will have to pay a fancy price for the wheat the government buys. It means extra American dollars which would be used to buy American production, will be sucked out of foreign pockets and world trade will be stultified by just that much. That is one argument for extending controls on exports.

What was considered a crisis in world affairs was met successfully by overwhelming congressional support for the post-UNRRA relief and Greek-Turkish aid bills. Although at times it has balanced on a rather thin edge, the solidarity of bi-partisan foreign policy has been maintained. But there is another matter which those most concerned declare has not been brought home to the public — the world food situation.

There are two important facts: 1. Two years have passed since the end of the war and the world food situation is no better. 2. Although congress (the people) has been willing to vote huge funds for relief, it appears unwilling to continue certain controls on business without which the machinery for helping the stricken countries to their feet will break down.

The first job is to bring home the seriousness of point one. The second job (which has been dumped into the President's lap) is to convince congress of the importance of point two.

Press and radio have been asked to help with the first job. They are

Michigan is headed back to red ink financing of state government. A state treasury deficit is foreseen as the result of legislators' reluctance to enact new taxes and the constitutional mandate to divert 76 per cent of the state sales tax to local governments including public schools.

Several capital newspaper correspondents, who watch daily the pattern of events at Lansing, concede that the inevitability of new taxes in 1948 will hurt Governor Sigler's chances of reelection. The governor's insistence that the legislature must lead itself also hasn't helped matters. The Detroit Free Press, one of Kim's original bell-ringers, smartly criticizes the governor for lack of leadership. The editorial says: "Instead of creating behind him the power of public opinion to force enactment of his purposes, his (Sigler's) publicity has been largely given over to the fun he is having with his new pilot's license and his plane. This has not set well with the voters of Michigan." Sigler has 18 more months to go before the voters will weigh his record. He has shown a tolerant willingness to take criticism provided it is constructive.

Root of Michigan's tax troubles lies in the deep antagonism between rural and urban interests. The fear of rural legislators that the legislature will be dominated by cities, and the lack of urban representation at Lansing although cities foot most of the tax bills. Less than one-half of the counties are self-supporting through taxes. Put this on your phonograph, and you go around and around. Your conclusion will depend largely upon your viewpoint. The Highland Park, your suburban newspaper of Detroit, advocates a constitutional amendment to assure that each county will get back its "just share" of taxes.

Governor Sigler's recommendations for a constitutional revision commission was approved by the house, but rejected by the senate. Since the constitution was adopted in 1908, a total of 31 amendments have been submitted to the voters at elections. Of these, 43 were approved.

Like Alice in Wonderland who cried before she picked a finger, the General Motors "Train of Thought" would be used to say where he is going before he gets there. Which is to say that this writer was among the passengers on the Lansing-to-Detroit train last week and viewed the approaching landscape through the "Astro-Dome" on top of one of the train coaches. It's an enclosed air-conditioned observatory. The noiseless slide of the Diesel-powered train is a rather feature which heralds tomorrow's railway transportation.

W. M. E. Children's Day Pageant

The Children's Day services of the Methodist Sunday school will take place at eight o'clock Sunday evening and will be in the nature of a pageant. The general thought of the pageant is the building of Farmington and the creating of a community of homes where childhood is given every advantage. Part one will present the Indians, the beauty of the trees and the hills. Part Two introduces the earliest settlers and their principles of thrift and industry, and shows the Indians pushed back with the coming of the white man. Part Three brings education, social life, and religion to the community and the pageant is concluded with five patriotic, peace and progress.

Autoists Should Be Careful

Autoists should bear in mind the new ruling of the Oakland County Road Commission which forbids stopping of cars on the travelled portion of the highway. One must not stop thereon either to let off or take on passengers, to secure water or oil or gas or fix a tire, but must go to the side of the road where traffic will not be interfered with when such a stop is necessary. This may seem a bit unreasonable but the county road authorities have figured it out that the rule is necessary to insure a greater degree of safety on the highways.

Fruit Growers Plan Storage Plant

Crystallization of an idea discussed for a number of years — "putting on the map" this apple growing region, making the Detroit and southeastern Michigan market "conscious" of the importance of this territory as one of the great fruit centers of the country — appears likely of achievement as a result of activities under way and planned for the immediate future by growers of this district.

City Holds Tax Rate At $15.00

Despite rising costs in all directions and the addition of a new item of $3.00 for bridge widening in the 1937-1938 budget, Farmington City Commission has good news for the taxpayers in the announcement that the municipalities tax rate for the ensuing fiscal year will remain unchanged.

In Your Own Back Yard . . .

is one of the finest parks you will want to rough it in. It is Farmington's beautiful City Park.

It's there for you and your friends to use — picnic tables, adjoining athletic field, wading pool, practically in your back yard. There is only one thing wrong — who uses it? Picnickers from Detroit, Pontiac and other communities.

Maybe it is too close — maybe it is not well enough known — maybe you haven't seen it this spring. New trees and shrubs have just been planted. There are plenty of tables and stoves, plenty of shade and green grass.

Detailed plans have been made to expand the facilities of the park to make it more attractive and enjoyable. It will take time — but everything is being done right now to improve it.

Above all, efforts are being made to introduce Farmington's City Park to Farmington. If it is to be improved and expanded it must be used. Not used entirely by our neighboring communities, although they are very welcome, but by Farmington.

A great deal of money has been spent by the City and by various organizations to attract Farmington residents to our fine park. A lot of work and community effort has been put forth to make it usable.

Community groups and individuals should make it a point to look at their park, to use it, to enjoy it. Additional facilities and improvements will be made as fast as funds and Farmington interest warrant it. We have a beautiful park right in our own back yard — make it your park.

Why Kid Ourselves . . .

about communism? We can't close our eyes and expect to keep from bumping our nose. We have to live with Russia, but we don't have to forget the difference between right and wrong.

Russia is wrong! Wrong by every standard we live by. Wrong by every standard of freedom and common decency. Do we have to declare it right in order to get along?

Some seem to think so. Some are willing to ignore right from wrong, in what they call the interest of unity. Unity of what — Communist States? The United Nations was established to avoid just such action. It was born out of a hope that all nations might live as nations.

We never in the history of our country have followed a policy of appeasement when our basic principles of life are questioned, whether it be at home or abroad. It is a responsibility that has been handed down to us as a trust we swore to keep. We will keep it!

We will with all the powers at our disposal, strengthen Americanism — strengthen our belief in our form of government. Communism never works on Main Street — it is underground. There is no middle of the road — its objectives are to overthrow our government. Our trust is to keep democracy — to keep it working. There is no appeasement — no middle of the road.

All this does not mean war. A strong declaration of our stand, a renewal of our principles, points us out to the world as a determined united country. One of the few countries left that has faith in its government, in its leaders, in its people. A country that knows right from wrong and isn't ready to sell itself out. A country strong in faith, strong in tradition. A country informed, educated, trained in freedom.

A strong, determined voice is our protection. Communism does not grow where strength and light prevail.
