One Magic Word . . .

the cure to all ills — the answer to a prayer — the salvation of a world — Gold.

How many times before have nations tried to buy their way to peace, to security? History is full of such failures, as it is full of failures to gain power through waging war. Yet, nations can't or won't read and believe.

Europe today in all its confusion, its intrigue, its looking for an easy way out, has staked its future on the magic word, gold. Nothing else seems to matter. It's the easy way out!

None of us can or should ignore the tremendous problems facing shattered Europe. Their security, standard of living, speed of reconstruction, is of major concern to us in an ever shrinking world.

But is gold the answer? Can any nation buy lasting security, build world peace, or promote better understanding with gold alone? No more than individuals can find happiness in a six-figure bank roll alone.

Europe needs money to rebuild — they need food, clothing, security. But they need more than that. They need faith, they need to find a rebirth of individual thinking and initiative — they need leaders who, with foresight and fearless wisdom, will show its people the way back. They need drive and initiative plus a desire to find the right road and follow it. This is the answer — the answer all the gold in the world can't buy.

Emergency relief is necessary in Europe. The United States will, as it always has in the past, contribute to ease that emergency. It is our responsibility along with other able nations. It is part of our trust to insure peace and better understanding throughout the world.

We ask no nation to bow to our will. We send no promoters abroad to undermine our neighbors. We only offer ourselves as an example of free thinking, free governing people. A democratic nation which, through private enterprise and individual initiative, has raised the standard of living, the ideals and hopes of the entire world.

This, not gold, is the magic word.

Snow And Ice . . .

are probably the two things farthest from the minds of Farmington citizens these warm September days.

In fact if someone went out hunting for untimely topics right now snow and ice would run first and second on the list. And yet how often, especially in planning, do we figure far enough ahead?

That's the reason for the comment on snow and ice this September day. Farmington, if it is to develop and build its winter recreation program, should start now. The organizations and individuals interested in seeing Farmington have a real winter recreation program, should begin to plan now — plan to suggest — plan to cooperate — plan to help.

The city last year began the development of a winter sports area. They prepared a skating rink with lights. They built toboggan slides. This area should be maintained and the people of Farmington should be encouraged to use it, as they have used the City Park this summer.

But this winter, as last winter, the city will need the help of Farmington's organizations. They will need the cooperation of all interested citizens. Organizations should offer the city their support. Sufficient facilities are now available to give Farmington an excellent winter recreation program.

This is a community project, a project that Farmington's citizens and organizations can make successful. It is an opportunity to work together with the city for community betterment.

Elliott And Eleanor Begin Back-To-Land Movement

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Moses Smith, I understand, has retired. He is leaving the 140 acres he has been farming for 27 years. His landlady's widow and her son are going to work it from now on.

The last time I saw Moses Smith he was dressed in his Sunday clothes. We were both up in his former landlady's bedroom, with some of his neighbors. It was a sad occasion. It was the boss' birthday anniversary but he had been dead nearly two years. The room looked the same to Moses and his friends who had seen it often when they came up there to talk over farm and other business. The former occupant's dress

If the Upper Peninsula is the "problem child" of Michigan, as some writers have charged, it is not due to the failure of local people to try to work out their own salvation.

Twenty five years ago (September 8, 1922) Gala Day A Big Success

The much heralded Gala Day is a thing of the past, leaving behind pleasant recollections for both old and young who made it a point to visit Farmington on Labor Day. Labor Day broke bright and clear and gave every promise of an ideal day for outdoor sports. It is estimated that several thousand people visited Farmington during the day and evening. The affair was a fine success in every particular. Hard work by the members of the post and an appreciative public made it such. The post realized about $500.

Year's School Enrollment 369

The Farmington public schools opened for the fall term Tuesday morning with an enrollment of 369 pupils. More are reporting each day and it is expected that the number will be considerably increased with the close of the first week of school.

Bond and Stamp Sales Soar In The Civic Theatre Campaign

The "Salute to Our Heroes Month," being celebrated in all theatres throughout the country, got off to a flying start at the Civic Theatre. Returns for the first week of bond and stamp sales amounted to $3,000. The quota for the month was raised from $10,000 to $20,000, and at the present rate of sales, Farmington will just about make it. Each evening at the Theatre, the house lights go on, and Bonds and Stamps are sold through the audience.
