MEADOWBROOK WOMEN TO HAVE ANNUAL PARTY

Meadowbrook Country Club's women golfers will hold their annual luncheon at the Club on Friday, September 26, the luncheon fete being the high spot of a gala day, beginning at 9:30 a.m. with a nine-hole, two-club golf match.
The party will honor the outgoing and incoming officers, and also Shirley Spork, Meadowbrook's women's champion. Miss Spork also is Women's District Golf champion and National Intercollegiate champion.
At 11:30 there will be a short business meeting, luncheon and presentation of prizes at one o'clock, and a gin rummy tournament at 2:30 p.m.
Chairman is Mrs. James C. Montgomery. Hostesses for the day include Mrs. Curt Hall, Mrs. Hugh Rader, Jr., Mrs. William M. Cutting, Mrs. F. W. Young, Mrs. Robert C. Wothe, Mrs. George W. Sheldon, Mrs. Fred S. Sheldon, Jr., Mrs. George H. Whybrey, Mrs. J. J. Lucas, Mrs. William I. French, Mrs. William F. Newberry, Mrs. Hugh Rader, Sr., Mrs. Ellis A. Green, Mrs. Chad Poplars and Mrs. Frank R. Dimond.

POST 4033, V. F. W. WILL PRESENT AUTUMN DANCE

For their first autumn dance, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Farmington Post 4033, will present the music of Bill Conroy and his orchestra. The dance, which will be held on Saturday, October 11, at the Macabees Hall on Eight Mile Road at Grand River Avenue, is to start at 9:00 p.m. and continue until 1:30 a.m.
Dances will be of both the old time and modern varieties and the motto for the evening will be "Name the tune, and you shall have it."
Remember, this is the first dance of the season for the Post, and considering this organization's growing reputation for putting on lively entertainment, you will not want to later admit you were not on hand for the first affair of the fall season.
Here's valuable information from Michigan State college agricultural specialists in the soft corn problem: Don't be in a hurry about picking soft corn. It will dry better on the stalk than it will in the crib. The corn can be cut as needed or hogged down.

CARS OF TOMORROW BY BOYS OF TODAY

The two top winners of a model car competition, James Marlot, 15, of Canton, Ohio and Charles Jordan, 19, of Cambridge, Mass., study their car designs against a background of the city of the future. University scholarships worth $4,000 each went to the boys who designed and built the cars on the extreme left. The other cars earned $2,000 each.

ATTRACTIVE PRIZES TO BE GIVEN AT THEATRE PARTY

Valuable prizes, including a four quart Presto Cooker, four hundred pounds of feed, pyrex ware and pasta, will be given away as door prizes during the big theatre party to be held Wednesday, October 1, at Grauer's Hall at Eleven Mile Road and Inkster Roads at 8:00 p.m.
The event is to be sponsored by Farm Service Supplies and is produced by Kasco Mills, Inc. The show has been played throughout the country and has met success as worthwhile entertainment for all ages. It features a two hour movie, cartoons and musicals, some of which will be in technicolor. Topping off the other attractions, those attending will enjoy light refreshments. The public has been cordially invited to attend the "party."

Farmers' cash receipts continue well above 1946. For the first eight months they totalled 17.4 billion dollars, about 21 per cent more than last year. Excluding government payments, the increase was 26 per cent.

WASHINGTON DIGEST . . .

ably do a little "significant smiling"). Then the students would fairly raise the roof with applause and cheers — delayed action.
I mentioned that on the air, as I said, and commented that every time I passed by the statue of Kosciuszko, I could hear a faint murmur, I had no doubt it was Kosciuszko telling what he would do today if he could just get down from his pedestal.
A number of people wrote in about that. They always do when I mention the statues. People are interested in statues even though they have gone out of style as monuments. You know, the Du Pont family took the bust of old Admiral Samuel F. Du Pont out of the famous circle named after him, and replaced it with the present beautiful memorial fountain. Some Washingtonians were deeply offended and the national parks service was kept busy for several days answering phone calls and letters from indignant citizens.
In fact about the only complaints the national parks service has been receiving of late years have been concerned with the upkeep of the 77 statues entrusted to its care. Some Washingtonians call up to rebuke the service for the greenish tinge creeping over some of them, like Kosciuszko. It is brown and weather turns it green, which most sculptors feel adds to its beauty, so the service doesn't worry too much.
There wasn't much money for the national parks during World War II to pretty up Washington's statuary. About all the service could manage was a yearly washing of each statue (it takes several men a whole day for the laundering job). But this year congress gave the service $10,000 for trucking equipment, hoses, masonry repairs, plumbing fixtures for the fountains and other monuments.
They have another $10,000 to spend on structural repairs—to replace missing arms, legs and chunks hacked out by souvenir hunters, for statues have their ghosts, too. But most of the breaking, it is believed, is done by overworked youth. On the whole, people like statues.
I think people are becoming a little more charitable, too. Nobody had to worry about the safety of Frederick the Great during World War II; Baron von Steuben was left untouched through two conflicts with his country (although we wouldn't let his living descendants in when they begged asylum from the Nazis) and no one would think of worrying the fatherly father of homeopathy, Dr. Hahnemann. We have no statues of Japs or Russians but if we had I doubt if they would have been disturbed.
Perhaps some day people will be as kind to each other as they are to statues.
