FROM THE GOVERNOR'S DESK

Governor Kim Sigler has urged young men between the ages of 17 and 35 to join the National Guard and "help safeguard the defense of the state and the nation."

In a radio interview, Brig. General Ralph Loveland, commanding general of the 46th Infantry Division of the Michigan National Guard, Governor Sigler said:

"To the man who feels he owes his state and nation more than the payment of taxes, let me extend a sincere invitation to go to his local armory to investigate the Michigan National Guard. Let all of us, working together, make our nation at guard a vital, vibrant, living thing, a strong sinner in the arm of national defense."

Governor Sigler and General Loveland spoke in behalf of the current two month campaign to enroll 2,200 new men in the Michigan National Guard.

General Loveland, declaring that the present enrollment of over 4,600 officers and men was greater than the average pre-war enrollment, declared "that is only a beginning, because the new guard has a tremendous role to play in national defense—it must be ready at a moment's notice to take up arms. The pre-war guard was organized on the theory there would be time for training in event of war."

Governor Sigler asserted that, in addition to the honor of being a member of that of skilled workers, National Guard service "offers an opportunity to accept willingly the responsibility to contribute to his nation without thought of risk."

HEALTH ACTIVITIES

Governor Kim Sigler will interview Dr. J. K. Altland, acting state health commissioner, on the services and presentation of the state health department on Saturday, October 18 at 10:30 p.m. over WJR.

The Governor broadcasts weekly over WJR at that time, and every Tuesday at 12:15 over WKAR, the Michigan State College radio station.

ARTICLES PRAISE LIQUOR BOARD

The "Monopoly State Review," a national publication, in an article on the administration of liquor laws in states such as Michigan, wrote in its current issue:

"The administration of Governor Kim Sigler has seen the Michigan monopoly get a good press. The commission has altered its policies somewhat under the reorganization ordered by Gov. Sigler, and this has improved the attitude of the press. It appears that the present administration is endeavoring to see that no unjust penalties are assessed, while still keeping a strong enforcement program."

A recent issue of a news letter devoted to the beverage industry said: "Very interesting developments shaping up in Michigan these days. The liquor control commission, which is undoubtedly the best the state has ever had, is being subjected to a 'probe.' Object, of course, is to smear the commission and its members in retaliation for its refusal to play politics with some of the 'boys.' However, the little project is backfiring, and to the amazement of everybody, commission included, the state's newspapers are backing the commission almost unanimously. The moral? Just this—the Michigan newspapers were the industry's severest critic. When it started to do a job, they became its staunchest friend."

SIGLER DESCRIBES DUTIES OF PRESS

"The press has now arrived at a point where it has a greater duty and opportunity to serve than ever before," Governor Kim Sigler declared on an address before the 23rd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association October 10.

"As a result of our shrinking world, it is necessary as never before that our people know the rudiments of the intricate field of foreign relations, and have some idea of what is going on in Russia, the Balkans, and in England. In this atomic age, the newspapers—large and small—have the added burden of exercising a high degree of statesmanship, so that a misinformation or half-informed public doesn't go off half-cooked."

The Governor, keeping one of the few speaking engagements he did not cancel because of his recent illness, flew to Harrisburg to speak.

PRISON OFFICIALS TO HAVE HEARING

Governor Kim Sigler will hear charges against William H. Burke, assistant director in charge of the bureau of prisons, and J. Fred Munell, manager of the Michigan State institutions accused of malfeasance, corrupt conduct and gross neglect of duty.

The Governor has set Monday, October 28, at 9:30 a.m. for the hearing to determine whether Burke and Munell should be discharged. They are accused of illegally appropriating state property manufactured by prison labor, to their own use.

Squeeze That Bowl

In Keeping with Modern Housekeeping

SQUEEZE a bowl, you say, that's impossible! But it is true after all, for modern developments in plastics make this unbelievable fact a reality. The above photograph shows a group of these new flexible bowls and tumblers also. Their soft pastel colors are pleasing to the eye and their flexing quality makes them easy to clean. They are unbreakable, too, an important feature with children in the home.

Made of Bakelite polyethylene plastics, these newcomers to the plastic bowl and tumbler family won't chip or crack under the most severe strain. The fact that they are non-slip makes pouring extremely easy and facilitates cleaning. This material by Tupper Plastics is pretty enough to come to the table, too.

which means you can use either tumblers or bowls for jellied salads and ice box desserts. Just try filling up one of these bowls with this delicious Coffee Cocoa Fluff.

Coffee Cocoa Fluff
2 tablespoons chocolate pudding
1/2 cup cold water
3 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold coffee
2 eggs whites, well beaten
Spoke gelatin in cold water. Mix cocoa, sugar, salt; stir in one cup of coffee. Stir over low heat until mixture boils and thickens slightly. Pour over softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. And remaining coffee, chill in refrigerator until mixture is syrupy. Beat until fluffy; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Blend well; pour into large bowl. Chill until set. Yield: 6 servings.
