Newcastle Disease

Positive diagnosis of Newcastle disease in poultry still depends on laboratory tests, U. S. bureau of animal industry specialists told members of the American Veterinary Medical association at their convention. Of the serum samples received at the government laboratories from "clinically diagnosed" cases, more than 50 per cent have been confirmed by laboratory methods as being Newcastle disease, these authorities reported.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS ARE FOR PEDESTRIANS TOO!

Wait! The few quick seconds it takes the light to go amber or green may be the difference between life—and death!

Traffic lights aren't just for drivers, they're for pedestrians, too. They are your signals of safety. Drivers and traffic officers expect you to obey them. Yet in 1946, over 2,800 persons were killed at intersections. In addition, more than 4,000 jaywalked into the Hereafter between intersections. From all causes, 12,200 pedestrians—men, women and children—were given a ride to the morgue! They died at the rate of 33 every day.

Fantastic? Sure, but deadly true.

Of pedestrians killed who were old enough to drive, only 10% ever drove a car. That may be one reason why pedestrians have to be told, again and again, that traffic lights and all safety regulations are for them too. They have never experienced the responsibility of driving.

If you are a pedestrian, learn to cross with the lights, never run out from behind parked cars, or cross between intersections. Don't stand in the street or highway. Always be alert.
