CLARENCEVILLE NEWS

By MRS. AXEL RUTILA
TELEPHONE FARM, 1124-M

Our Cub and Boy Scouts of CL2 made history at the District Scout meeting held at Elsie Auditorium. They were highly praised by Mr. Amos Shields, Chief Scout Executive. The Cub Scouts in full Indian regalia, feathers, headbands, loin cloth, war paint, etc., put on four authentic Indian dances which they had rehearsed for many weeks, while the Scouts followed with their band playing around a camp fire started by "fire by friction," when a flash came in on their radio of a disaster in the woods. The scene changed to victims who had been prepared by their scoutmaster with simulated wounds and bleeding and the first aid team of Chuck Brombaugh and Don Rutila took over and fixed the four victims up with splints, bandages, etc., as the case required. The entire program was the responsibility of Mr. Kenneth Swarthout and Mr. Specht of headquarters. Two of the Scouts who attended the Jamboree in France last summer told of their experiences. The speaker of the evening, Commander Keane, U.S.N., talked on the same thing. Former Scout Albert Boltho who is studying at Wayne University entertained with music on the organ and accompanied the community singing.

Scoutmaster Rutila was chosen by Detroit Headquarters as Sunset District's representative to a "red hunters" conference of Scouting, which he attended last week end in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Clarenceville was well represented in the deer hunt by all reports. With the close of the football season at the Farmington game, which was so well attended by our folks, the boys playing so hard, basketball is next on the agenda. But for the kindness of Boys Republic loaning Coach Samuels their gym for an hour each day, that game would have to be pigeon-holed for the season. In the upper peninsula there is a small town named Pelkie, with 50 children in it's school, and yet they have a gym and shop. It might be said that it is an old community — but not any older than our own. Children everywhere but in our midst seem to have what they need without any question about it.

The youngsters have obtained the pictures they had taken a few weeks ago, and whether they like them or not, the naked truth of the matter is in the picture. The high school members are about the most photographed folks on earth at the present writing. They sat for the yearbook takes on Monday, some as many as five to seven times, what with band, chorus, debate, class, athletics, school council, school paper and library activities. Going back as far as Halloween — parents should have taken time to go to Central School to see the youngsters parade around the grounds. It was some sight. This year the trend seemed to run to ramps.

Mrs. Henry Troutaud met with the girls interested in Senior Scouts on Monday. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Earl were present on Monday at Birmingham where the Oakland County committee met with the Rotarians. Our Scouts have been very active this fall, celebrating with parties at Halloween and now working on Christmas plays for presentation at the annual party on December 16.

The Tuesday Club held their annual dinner party at Black's White House.

Mrs. Lloyd Samuels entertained the members of the Band Boosters Club and Mrs. Russell Howe loaned her home for the Edgewood Group.

Little Miss Margaret Lawason, daughter of the George Lawasons of St. Francis, celebrated her third birthday by entertaining twelve little friends.

Clarenceville's Band made their second annual appearance at Briggs Stadium on Sunday, together with Eastern from Lansing, Redford Union, Clawson and Wyandotte at the Lions - Washington football game. Section Three in the stadium held a representative group of citizens, students, teachers, parents and friends who went along with the band. Everybody enjoyed the game immensely and it seemed like a regular high school frappe with some 7th and 8th grade material thrown in. Our majorettes were along with the musicians, of course, but they also attended "Majorette Day" the previous Sunday. These girls deserve particular mention. They are Helen Hall, Shirley Roy, Shirley Moody, Mary Cashman and their captain, Senior Dolores Lefley, who is responsible, with Mr. Mans, for teaching them their routines.

Mrs. James A. Baird (Barbara Ryall) of Berkeley, California, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Ryall, of St. Francis. At the regular meeting of the P.T.A. on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Schroeder, teacher of Central's third grade, Mrs. Henry Troutaud and Mrs. John Lewis gave very fine reports of their findings at sessions of the P.T.A. convention held recently at Ann Arbor. Entertainment was provided during the serving of lunch. Mrs. Hubert Earl was chairman, assisted by Mrs. LaFollette. December 15 is the date of the next meeting. Come and bring a friend.

The Axel Rutila family was called to Calumet by the death of Mr. Rutila's brother on Sunday, November 9. They experienced their first taste of winter in the Gaylord area, where the snow was inches deep, but it thinned out and disappeared again until north of Marquette, where it was almost a foot deep in the extreme northern part of the state. On the return trip only one other car crossed on the ferry, but the family saw the eight-mile line-up of hunters at the Straits, and there was a continual stream of cars as far south as Grayling. The ice was so bad the traffic was slowed to ten miles per hour, and even with such a slow-down there were about twenty cars with trailers in the ditch. The snow reached blizzard proportions, and it was necessary to drive with your head out of the window to see the road. A person reads about this annual trek to the north, but one has to see it to fully realize what a complete evacuation it is.

The Varsity Club held their annual carnival on Friday night, at the High School and a fair representation of our citizens attended.

Our congratulations and good wishes for a successful year to the new O.E.S. Lodge officers who have recently assumed their duties.

REFRESHMENTS
This adv. with 50c admits one

There you have it in black and white—the way to avoid many a fatal accident. And this is equally true—it's not "safe to be a smart driver!"

The young driver who slouches over the wheel and goes twisting and roaring through traffic for his own self-satisfaction and the adulation of others is as out of date as a 1910 flivver.

More and more, new drivers-to-be are enrolling in driver instruction courses, to learn how to be safe and intelligent drivers. They are taught how to operate and control a car. They become familiar with traffic rules and regulations — and the penalties for violating these established rules of the road. They learn that it is really smart to be considerate and courteous to others.

Many communities are making these courses available through their schools today. If your son or daughter is coming of driving age, see to it that they take a driver instruction course. If there is not one available in your town, ask the school or police authorities how you can obtain instruction material.

Make young drivers safe drivers—right from the start.
