Saga of Friendship
The Webster-Ashburnton treaty, signed in 1842 by Secretary of State
Daniel Webster and Lord Ashburnton,
British ambassador to Washington, settled the boundary between Can-of the treaty have remained in-

has remained undisturbed.

REVOLT VICTIM CARRIED TO REST

BOGOTA, COLUMBIA — Funeral procession in the Colombian capital as a victim of the revolution which erupted Friday is carried to rest. This photo was made by Joseph A. Orozco, a State Department interpreter at the Pan American Conference, amid sniping and sporadic outbursts of violence Monday, April 12th. Mr. Orozco was among the first 10 persons evacuated Monday from Bogota to Panama by American Army planes.

FARM BUREAU MEETING IS WELL ATTENDED

The West Farmington Farm Bureau Discussion Group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Knapp on Thursday evening, April 15, with 19 members, nine children and several visitors present. A lively game, under the leadership of Sarah Knapp, was played by the group, while awaiting the arrival of the chairman.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Roland Green, and the report of the secretary and treasurer was read and approved.

Ray Howard reported on the County meeting, in which he said this portion of Oakland County, including West Bloomfield, Walled Lake, Farmington and Novi Townships had achieved the best record in the recent membership drive, and lacked only 14 members to reach the goal. He also reported that Oakland County has 427 members, as of April 15, 1948.

Ray Howard reminded Blue Cross members that quarterly premiums are due, and he must have them in time to get them in the headquarters office by April 25.

During the County Board meeting, Karl D. Bailey announced that on June 11 there would be a "Grass Day" at Kiehl Middleton's farm.

"Grass Day" pertains to hay making, and farm implement dealers plan to be there to demonstrate machinery for this purpose. A large crowd is expected.

Frazer Huels led a round table discussion on "Shall Our Foreign Credit Be Extended?" However, the last month's topic on "How Shall Our Roads Be Financed?" seemed to be in everyone's mind and a good deal of time was spent discussing it.

It was moved that 50 per cent of last month's box social proceeds be turned over to the Cancer Relief Fund.

There was quite a bit of talk on the subject of the use of the West Farmington School for our meetings, but since there seemed to be quite a lot of expense involved, the matter was temporarily closed.

Florence, Helen, Wilma and Viola Tamm favored the group with several piano selections, including a piano quartet by all four, and a duet by Florence and Helen. The four sisters sang "The Old Spin-Whirl" and Viola sang a solo, "Mother". The group enjoyed the music very much, and wish to extend their thanks to the girls. The group also feels that Mr. and Mrs. William Tamm are to be congratulated on having four such talented daughters.

The meeting was adjourned and a social hour followed.

The next meeting will be on Thursday evening, May 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Palacky.

DEMAND GROWS FOR WHITE SKINNED POTATOES

Although there's a switch away from the Russet Rural potato in Michigan, Henry C. Moore, Michigan state college potato specialist, thinks even more producers should consider other varieties.

Chippewa, Sebago and Katahdin varieties are bringing about ten per cent higher market prices than the Russet. That's because consumers show a preference to the white-skinned potatoes.

The supply of certified seed for these varieties is limited, Moore reports, because there has not been such a great demand in the past years. Six years ago, however, 85 percent of the potatoes certified for seed were Russet Rurals. This year Russets accounted for only 60 percent of the total certified.

A few cultural practices are different in growing white-skinned varieties. Care must be taken to plant them in soil which has not grown potatoes for four or five years. Seed must be well-treated to eliminate scab infection before planting. The use of organic matter, such as green manure, is recommended. Sebago potatoes need to be planted earlier than Russets. Katahdins must be planted deeper and closer together to prevent sunburn or hollow heart.

Farmers who plan to grow certified seed should consider the increasing demand for these varieties. From 80 to 100 cars for seed are now being shipped into Michigan each year to satisfy the demand.

Moore also believes certified seed growers should also consider the heavy demand for Pontiac. This red-skinned variety is in great demand in the south where they grow no seed potatoes. Certified seed growers of this variety are finding an excellent market soon after digging in late summer or early fall. Southern growers plant potatoes in mid-winter for the early crop.

An essential in producing good quality milk and cream is to wash and sterilize all dairy utensils.
