OUR INVITATION
 I love to come to this still place,
 Where deeper peace is always found,
 To kneel as though on holy ground,
 And feel my Master face to face
 I do not know how I could live
 If there were not this refuge sweet
 Where I could linger at His feet
 And Ho to me sweet healing give.

U. S. Has Best Opportunity To Enforce Peace In World

Once again we face the high cost of inactivity — or, presenting it as depending on how you put it. Billions more to run the government and the world, and to cover a stepped-up defense program. Talk of a ten per cent increase in the budget for next year seems logical. As one cynic remarked, in the next war perhaps we ought to try to get on the losing side, and let the victors support us for a change.

Discussion of the details and cost of a selective service and universal military training program has been going on for some time. Sentiment against drafting husbands and G. I. seems to be crystallizing.

It would seem that G. I. might be fairly good material in an emergency without having to learn the general orders over again, and without having to require precision in bringing the right hand smartly to the cap brim or lying down within a reasonable period before the arrival of a machine gun bullet.

As to the husbands—they aren't entirely expendable, of course—all of them. Probably the most effective thing congress could have done was to vote immediately for immediate registration for everyone. The age brackets and exemptions, after all, could be settled later. If the emergency arises or even approaches—we can talk of details. That is the kind of emergency we face, and no sacrifice would be too great to prevent it. Right now proof of our willingness to act is most important.

Contrary to the general assumption that all we need is a few push-button experts and professors of nuclear science, any war that might come from now on would require a more extensive mobilization of civilian as well as soldier than anything which has preceded it.

Meantime, there is a better chance to establish a solid and stable peace than there ever has been. The United States has a better opportunity to enforce peace than any nation ever had. We could, with comparatively small sacrifice, start a preparedness program to prevent the "imbalance" of power against us as they say in diplomatic language.

In other words we could, without danger of actual conflict, since there is no power NOW (not to mention next year, but NOW) strong enough to threaten us, establish a Pax Americana. And with the will to peace that exists in the world today, we could use that situation, not as the Pax Romana or the Pax Britannica was used—to create enemies—but to build an effective Pax Universa.

America, in its strength could well afford to yield sovereignty to an international force. A period of tranquility, enforced if necessary, is what the world needs; time to reflect. Rome and Britain did bring a long peace of sorts; we can establish a longer one—one long enough, perhaps, to build a permanent one.

The principle is simple—as a colleague of mine is fond of saying— "muckety muck" is to pick a fight with Joe Lewis."

Early statements were made to the effect that it would cost an additional 480 millions over what already has been budgeted for universal military training. We are now spending 650 million dollars a year on cosmetics. And the total time used in applying them, according to my private statisticians, divided into manhours of military training, leaves a generous surplus for home-work.

I do not mean to treat lightly the world situation and the idea of a Pax Americana is not an empty one. It is, in fact, the only kind of a peace we can be sure of until we have time to stabilize world conditions, until there is a fairer division of the bread, and the security in which to earn it and eat it; a cessation of the fear, suffering

Death Claims Distinguished Citizen

Fred M. Warner, of this city, died at Orlando, Florida, Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock. While his death was not unexpected, the news caused a shock here which was intimately known, honored and respected by all. The remains, accompanied by Mrs. Warner and Howard Warner, arrived here yesterday. The funeral will be held from the Warner family residence on Grand River Ave. this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Sidney D. Eya, pastor of the Methodist Church, of which Mr. Warner was a member. Burial will be in the family lot in Oakwood Cemetery.

Celebrate Reopening of Baptist Church

Wednesday evening, April 25 at 7:15 will occur the annual meeting of the church. Just about a year ago the Baptist work was resumed in Farmington. The commemoration of this event will be fittingly observed with a special program.

WPA Plans Are Made By Town Board

The Township Board will hold a special meeting soon to inspect plans for road and drainage improvements on a WPA project which are to be submitted, probably this week end, by the County Engineer. The Board went to Pontiac to confer with County and WPA officials following a discussion at its regular meeting Tuesday night. Total cost of the proposed road project will be approximately $18,000, the engineer estimated, and the expense to the Township will be from $1,500 to $1,800, Arthur P. Cox, Supervisor, says.

Car Dealer To Give Pup With Used Car Purchase

An unusual offer is being made to residents in the Farmington area by Vic Blakeslee, car dealer. Until May 20 Mr. Blakeslee will give a free pup to every purchaser of a used car — pups for the kiddies, cars for the parents.

FIVE YEARS AGO (April 22, 1943)

Golden Rule Meeting Held

Kiwanis and Exchange Club members met together for a "Golden Rule Meeting" on Wednesday evening. Such meetings as this do much to cement relationship of Farmington's two service clubs, as well as establish a singular objective. The speaker of the evening, Professor Arthur Secord of the University of Michigan, gave a splendid talk on the Golden Rule. It was a talk rich with personal experience and examples. He brought out several points which would do much to further the Golden Rule, among them, health, knowledge of oneself, including general information, knowledge of one's work, confidence in others, courtesy, tact and adaptability, and the ability to make and keep friends.

Money Well Spent . . .

is always a bargain, especially when it is for Farmington, and more especially when it is for our boys and girls.

To get right to the point — IF Farmington is to have a summer recreation program this summer, it must pay for it. The Farmington Area Recreation Commission is established and is functioning. But it needs money to go ahead.

Farmington, like many other communities, has come to recognize the need for a leisure time program for children and adults alike. It is no longer a question of why. The need is obvious. Boys and girls particularly need planned activities to encourage their energies along wholesome recreational and educational lines. It is our responsibility to see that they have that opportunity.

The City Commission and the Board of Education have pledged their cooperation to the Farmington Area Recreation Commission. The Board, in addition, offered to make available the facilities of the School District to aid in the success of the program. The Township Board is expected to act on the proposal this week. Here is a program for all the community — its success depends upon the active support of all of the community.

The Farmington Area Recreation Commission is in the process of hiring a competent director to supervise the program for this summer. Because the Commission is composed of representatives of various civic and church groups in the community, they are being asked to contribute financially toward the program. No finer service could be performed by these organizations than to make this program a reality.

A $1,000 quota has been set as necessary to finance a full scale summer program. It is up to Farmington's organizations and Farmington's citizens to make it live and grow. Here is an opportunity — let's make it work!

In The Center Ring . . .

amid the bright lights and dazzling color, a nation performs.

Every move, every spectacular act is designed and executed to catch another eye. Democracy is at work under the big top, competing against the Communist's act in the nearby ring for attention. And a world sits in the bleachers, glancing at one and then the other, comparing skill, comparing value.

But, it's much more than just a circus. The customers in the bleachers don't just applaud and go home. They stay on and on, comparing, judging, watching. Some watch just the red ring, they dare not look — no, not even glance — at the other. In spite of the applause, the cheers, they keep their eyes glued on the Communist performers.

American Democracy is performing before the world. Its every move is compared. How well it functions in the eyes of the world may have much to do with the entire future. A slip on the cross bars, or a sour note by the band, doesn't draw an approving applause. Neither does lack of production, uncooperative action, defiance of law and government, strengthen democracy's place under the big top.

The red ring is most active, most spectacular, when confusion reigns. A people working together, trusting each other, respecting other's rights and recognizing the majority, can out-perform any nation on earth. They can prove their freedom without strikes. They can prove their power through production and a better standard of living. They can prove their understanding by respecting each other. They can show their love of country by living democratic lives.

The show will go on and the world will still watch, but the nation that encourages individual accomplishments, collective cooperation and freedom will attract the most attention and the loudest applause.

The compensation of state elective officials, other than the governor and lieutenant governor, has been increased to $7,500 a year by a legislative enactment of making them a member of the State administrative board. The secretary of state, for example, has a constitutional salary of $2,500 and $5,000 additional pay as a member of the "ad" board. Yet, two employees
