PUTSY - PUTSY!

Do you remember in kindergarten when you used to putter with clay; the crazy things you made; the fun you had making; and then when they were all done the laughs you got from them?

Perhaps you think, "Well, that day is done. I used to enjoy it, but clay is only for young children." If so, you don't know what you've been missing. Today adults do exactly the same thing, and find plenty of relaxation from it. The only difference is that they call it ceramics.

But all in all, if you want to try something that is unusual, useful, and can be picked up to work on anytime you feel like it, go back to your kindergarten days - try ceramics.

WEST FARMINGTON FARM GROUP ENJOYS MEETING

The West Farmington Farm Bureau discussion group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Palacky on Thursday evening, May 20. The meeting was well attended with 30 members, five children and five visitors present.

Sarah Knapp led in two lively games before the meeting was called to order by Chairman Roland Green. The report of the secretary and treasurer was read and approved. Sarah Knapp served as secretary because of the absence of Edith Knapp, who was ill.

A motion was made and carried to conduct business meetings under parliamentary ruling.

Harry McCracken brought to the attention of the group the increased difficulties that are arising due to the duplication of street names in Farmington Township. At present there are nine duplications and it is causing much confusion for mail and delivery service. Mr. McCracken stated the Oakland County Road Commission and The Detroit Edison Company are working to straighten out this situation.

Floyd Howard reported on the county board meeting and June Green reported on the county women's meeting. She said, "The women of the Farm Bureau are going to serve food all day at the Grandstand Day on June 11. Mrs. Braid of the Orion group will be in charge and she asked for volunteers to help in serving". The proceeds are to be used in the campaign against roadside dumping of rubbish.

Floyd Howard led a lively discussion on "Do We Want Controlled Production?". This proved to be an interesting topic and many comments were exchanged.

The meeting was adjourned and a social hour followed during which everyone enjoyed those good winners and buns made by the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knapp will entertain the group in June.
