BOR DAY ...

ne and went in Farmington without much of any excitement. To be e, the traffic was very heavy, beginning Friday evening, as everyone eamed out of the city, intent on getting to some not-too-distant lake resort, to spend a few days relaxation. The police found they had le trouble, however, as everyone seemed to be pretty much in line, laking it pretty easy. No serious accidents marred the holiday ck end here — which always makes everyone feel pretty good.

THE FIRE SIREN.

did not seem to sound forth quite so often this past week — but it is a rare treat indeed when a whole day can go by without hearing the siren, and seeing the truck go dashing out — most often to put out a grass fire. Once again we repeat the warning — please do not start a grass fire unless you are able to keep it under control, and know that no property will be endangered by it. Most of the recent lairms have been caused just because somebody was not as careful as they should have been. Don't let that "somebody" be you.

THIS WEEK END...

marks the Farmington Horse Show — and what a horse show it promises to be! Not only will there be a splendid showing of some of the finest horses in the state — and from other states, too — but there will be additional entertainment by the drill team of the Detroit Police Department, which everyone says is really something to see, and by a pole exhibition, which is also something to watch. There is a show Saturday afternoon, and Saturday night the show will be put on "under the lights" — adding something extra to the color and exclement.
