THE BLEARY EYES . . . and stifled yawns of Wednesday were easily explained — there is something about election night that brings a strange fascination for every American, and the hour for retiring is moved ahead "just a few minutes more" until the first thing one knows it is well into the wee, small hours of the morning — and still we hate to shut the radio off and call it a day. Of course you can always wrap a blanket about you and settle down in the big easy chair, catching forty winks now and then, but such interrupted rest never does quite suffice for the next day.

would be included in the city. Separate petitions bearing signatures of residents of the city and of the area involved in the annexation were filed with the County Board of Supervisors in September. The question was then turned over to the committee on Towns and consideration. It was then brought out of committee and voted upon by the Supervisors last Wednesday.

Clarenceville Band Given Trophy

Sweet music to the cars of the Clarenceville Band members was spoken at the affair pictured above at the Michigan State Fair Grounds in Detroit, when the band was signally honored for the second time in winning the loving cup being given to Jackle Kudla, center, band member, and Arthur Mann, director. Because of their distinctive showing in competition with other bands of Michigan High Schools, Clarenceville has been invited to participate
